Wal-Mart hearing to continue June 6

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The goal for Great Lakes Principals was to make its Wal-Mart presentation in "totality" at the public hearing scheduled before the combined planning and zoning board. While this goal was achieved, residents were notably upset when the meeting was continued to June 6 before there was time for any public comment.

Chair Barbara Johnson asked for a motion to continue, in part, because the parking lot lights had shut off at Hillcrest Elementary where the meeting was being held. Additionally, it was nearly 11 p.m. and it was deemed necessary to give the board members time to digest the material presented and come back with their questions for the developer and village staff.

Tim Barrett, a partner of Great Lakes Principals, said Wal-Mart is looking at both the options of Super Wal-Mart that includes a full grocery area and a standard Wal-Mart with limited food items. A super center would occupy about 209,000 square feet and a conventional store would occupy about 149,000 square feet.

"The numbers discussed tonight will be based on a super center store," clarified Barrett.

The project, if approved, would sit on 67 acres that is currently made up of seven smaller parcels at the intersection of Rte. 173 and Deep Lake Rd.

There are two phases to the project, with the first phase to include the Wal-Mart of about 209,000 square feet (of that 60,000 square feet proposed for groceries) on the 38 eastern acres with an expected completion date in 2003. The second phase is slated for "future development" on the western portion.

Studied done for Wal-Mart found that in the first full year of completion the village could expect to receive $570,000 of new sales tax revenue. Upon full assessment of the first phase of improvements, the Warrants have been issued through the Antioch Police Dept. for Wade J. Carlson, 18, of Long Lake and for Douglas J. Rogge, 20, of Round Lake for felony theft.

According to Detective Sgt. Craig Somerville, an Antioch woman claimed to be the victim of a scam earlier in March. "The woman said she answered a newspaper ad of a camper for sale," said Somerville. "After viewing the camper, she decided it was not something she

Antioch ears open for phony phone solicitation

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

"It has come to the attention of the Antioch Fire Dept. that many of our area residents have been receiving phone calls from someone who claims to be representing the local fire department and asks them to contribute money," said information officer Lt. Chris Lienhardt.

Lienhardt said that these calls are scams and are not being made on behalf of the either Antioch Fire Dept. or the First Fire Protection Dist. Further, neither of these agencies endorse the actions of the people on the phone.

According to Lienhardt, the state's attorney general monitors the complaints of residents and businesses throughout Chicago and the collar counties.

"If you receive a phone call from someone who claims that they are calling on behalf of the Antioch Fire Dept. or First Fire Protection Dist., please document who it was who called, what they said and the date and time when they called," asked Lienhardt. "Then contact the state's attorney general's office at 312-814-2595 so they can follow up on the matter."

Smoking causes fire

Smoking in bed never acceptable

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Smoking in bed led to the fire on Spafford on May 9 in the early morning hours that resulted in an explosion and caused damage to a building immediately to the north.

"There really aren't a lot of safety tips to give," said Lt. Chris Lienhardt, information officer for the Antioch Fire Dept. "Smoking in bed is always a big no, no."

Antioch police officers were the first on the scene and evacuate the three occupants living in the home. Two of the residents were helping the third, who suffered from critical burns to the head and chest.

"Thank goodness the police officers got the people not just out of the building, but away from the area," said Lienhardt. "The explosion happened after that and it blew the front door five feet down the sidewalk."

The victim was using an oxygen system due to a pre-existing medical condition.

"The medical equipment didn't cause the fire," said Lienhardt. "The oxygen tanks didn't fail until they were subjected to open flames." The fire originated on the mattress in the bedroom of the victim.

The victim was taken to a local hospital and then transferred to Loyola Medical Center. Sheltering arrangements for the other two were made through the Red Cross.

Loss is estimated at $40,000.

DUI/unlawful possession of alcohol

Donny L. Breen, 18, of 3029 Gilead Ave., Zion, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol and for the unlawful possession of alcohol on May 11 at 11:49 p.m. on Rte. 173 at Pedersen Park.

Police saw Breen's vehicle turn into Pedersen Park and turned around to pull behind it as the park had closed at sunset. The officer requested the identification of Breen and his passenger who didn't have any. The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on Breen's breath.

Both Breen and his passenger were checked through LEADS/NCIC/SOS with Breen coming back as having a valid driver's license and the passenger not having one.

Field sobriety testing was requested with Breen failing all tests asked of him and saying he knew he was drunk. He was arrested for DUI and placed in the squad car.

The passenger showed no signs of intoxication and had no odor of alcoholic beverage. The passenger was reportedly getting a ride home from the bowling alley from Breen.

During the inventory for tow, police found 10 bottles of beer and multiple empties.

Breen, who had been ill in the squad car, refused medical attention.

Breen and his passenger were transported to the Antioch Police Dept. The passenger's parents were called for pick-up. Breen was issued a citation for DUI.

The officer called the Antioch Rescue Squad to check on Breen who was still showing signs of illness. Breen again refused additional medical assistance.

He was put through booking procedures and given additional citations for operating an uninsured vehicle, unlawful consumption of alcohol and unlawful possession of alcohol.

Reports were completed as refused chemical testing due to Breen's illness. He was released to his stepmother on personal recognizance pending his June 4 court date.

Breen said he got the beer from an unknown subject in Trevor, Wis.

LAKE VILLA

Leaving accident scene

Kenneth E. Zandrowicz, 30, of 1350 N. Milwaukee Ave., Vernon Hills, was arrested by Lake Villa Police following an accident on May 5, at 2:50 a.m., on Route 83 near Park Avenue. Zandrowicz had left the scene. Police called him on May 6 at 7:35 a.m. At that time, he told police "in Arizona, we can leave the scene of an accident." Police informed him that Illinois requires drivers to remain on the scene, and check of the well being of the other driver. He reported to the Lake Villa Police Department on May 6, at 12:45 p.m. He said he did not believe he had struck another car. He said the other car cut him off while driving southbound on Route 83 near Grand Avenue. He told police he passed the other car, which then followed him. He said he left the area to avoid a confrontation. He admitted honking his horn, yelling and making rude gestures after the second car cut him off. He was charged with improper passing, leaving the scene of an accident involving damage and failure to report a car crash. He was released, pending an appearance in Grayslake Branch III court, on June 12, at 1:30 p.m.

DUI

Jeffrey G. Ultes, 21, of 25197 W. Edgar Ave., Antioch, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on May 3, at 1:34 a.m., while driving westbound on Route 132 near Route 83. He was observed crossing lane dividing lines, weaving and swerving. Police made a traffic stop as the driver pulled into Nuttie's Bar on Grand Avenue. When asked how many beers he had to drink, Ultes allegedly replied, "It's a rental car." After the question was repeated, Ultes answered, "It's her rental car," indicating his female passenger. Computer checks revealed that Ultes license was suspended in Illinois. He also had a revoked license in Wisconsin. He failed field sobriety tests and refused breath tests. He was charged with improper lane usage, DUI alcohol and driving with a suspended license. He was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on June 7, at 9 a.m.

Joanne M. Tomassetti, 42, of 22235 Green Lane, Antioch, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on May 4, at 2:45 a.m., while driving westbound on Route 132 near Oak Knoll Drive. She was observed driving 10 miles below the 30-mph speed limit and crossing the yellow center line. She continued driving slowly, allegedly speeding up to 30 mph in a 40-mph zone, and remaining at that speed as she drove through a 50-mph zone. Police activated their emergency lights after observing her cross onto the shoulder of the road. She continued driving for about two-tenths of a mile. She told the arresting officer she knew the police chief and another officer. She asked if the other officer was on duty. She admitted drinking three beers. She exhibited poor balance and registered .242 on a PBT. A subsequent Intoxilizer test yielded .231 BAC. Although she refused to follow instructions and resisted handcuffing, police did not charge her with resisting arrest. She was charged with DUI, DUI over .08 BAC and improper lane usage. She was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on June 14, at 9 a.m.

LINDENHURST

DUI

John A. Bentall, 37, of 1317 Walnut, Round Lake Beach, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on May 12, at 3:18 a.m., while driving eastbound on Route 45 near Route 132. He was observed driving 51 mph in a 40-mph zone and repeatedly drifting across the double yellow center line and crossing over the fog line. In the car, police found a flask, which had an odor of alcohol. Bentall refused breath tests and field sobriety tests. He was charged with speeding, improper lane usage, DUI alcohol, driving without proof of insurance, no valid driver's license and transport of open liquor. He was released on a $3,000 bond, paying 10 percent, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on May 28, at 9 a.m.

Marcella A. Cook, 37, of 2393 Quaker Hollow, Round Lake Beach, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on May 11, at 1:26 a.m., while driving on Granada Blvd., near Columbia Avenue. While driving westbound on Route 132, police observed Cook traveling 51 mph in a 40-mph zone. She crossed the double yellow center line, and drifted right before making a left turn onto Granada, where she crossed through the northbound left turn lane. She failed four field sobriety tests, and after registering .106 BAC on a PBT, she refused a Breathalyzer test. She told police she had been drinking two glasses of wine. She was charged with speeding, improper turning and DUI alcohol. She was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on May 28, at 9 a.m.

DUI drugs

Cheryl M. Amen, 43, of 1514 Cobblestone Court, McHenry, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on May 10, at 8:36 a.m., while driving on Route 132 near Waters Edge Drive. She was stopped after police observed her changing lanes without signaling, and driving 55 mph in a 45-mph zone. There was an odor of cannabis in the car. The driver failed five field sobriety tests, but registered .000 BAC on a PBT. She attempted to walk away from the arrest. A Lake County Sheriff's Office K-9 picked up the scent of drugs on the driver's side seat and on the floor behind the driver's seat, but no narcotics were found in the car. Amen was charged with failure to signal, speeding, DUI drugs and resisting a police officer. She was released on a $3,000 bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on May 28, at 9 a.m.

Exercise for better health

NEWS-WORTHY

Sharon Westbrook

Exercise is essential for good health. It is necessary for proper digestion and proper intestinal action. Lack of proper exercise causes the muscles to become weak. A muscle not used for 10 days loses one third of its strength. Coordination and balance deteriorate with age. Exercise helps maintain muscle strength and reduce the risk of falls. A minimum of 30 minutes of exercise three times a week is recommended. Before beginning any exercise program it is always wise to check with your doctor. FOR YOUR HEART

Physical activity not only burns calories but also stimulates heart action causing an increased blood supply which promotes better circulation.

Exercise helps to keep your arteries open. Just walking can help lower cholesterol levels and clear the arteries of plaque. Regular exercise usually leads to a reduction in blood pressure.

For your back

A common reason for back pain is not using your abdominal muscles. All the weight is on your back, unsupported by your abdominal muscles. Improving the strength of muscles in your back and abdomen can help prevent or ease lower back pain.

For headaches

Headaches and tension problems which elevate blood pressure and place huge overloads on your circulatory system can be relieved by exercise. When you begin to exercise you will feel your body relaxing and tension headaches lifting.

For depression

According to a Duke University study working out for 30 minutes three times a week is as effective as antidepressants in treating clinical depression.

Shapes in Antioch

Recently a few friends and I took advantage of a 30 day free no obligation trial at Shapes in Antioch. That trial is still available and there are incentives and gifts if you join within the first two weeks. The great part of going with a friend is the accountability. Someone is expecting you to show up! We have so much fun talking as we workout it hardly seems like exercise. I have to admit the first few times I was exhausted, but I don't feel that way now.

According to Darlene Ninko, one of the trainers at Shapes, exercise is good for your health, your heart and to reduce stress. Darlene says, "stress and depression make you sore and tired." The ages of women at Shapes ranges from 14 to 81. "An 81 year old women was sent in by her chiropractor to strengthen her back", remarked Darlene. "She now enjoys walking." "A tennis player comes in to continue to work her muscles. A group of teen girls workout together and are learning good habits they will keep for life. Women in many different occupations as well as physical conditions enjoy working out. Darlene recommends exercising every other day or a minimum of three times a week for 30 minutes.

Shapes which is located at 418 Lake St. is a circuit training system. Weight stations work your muscles in both directions (positive and negative contractions). Aerobic step stations are used alternately with the weight stations. A trainer will work with you on each station to find out what is best for you. As you workout you are on each station 40 seconds going around the entire circuit twice which takes only 30 minutes. When you become more advanced you can increase your times around the circuit or add weights upon the recommendation of the trainer. Shapes is open Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m.-1 p.m. and 4-8 p.m. Fridays have the same hours except closing is 7 p.m. Saturday hours are 8 a.m.-noon. Shapes is closed on Sundays.

Camp Crayon children complete course

Park program graduates second class

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

It was a standing room only crowd for the BK (before kindergarten) Campers graduation ceremony in the lower level classroom of parks and recreation department's building. Parents, siblings, grandparents, and Trustee Dorothy Larson, on behalf of the Village of Antioch filed in to be part of the festivities.

Debbi Foerster, program director, said, "We know they're going to be great in kindergarten. Be proud of them."

The program is part of the Antioch parks and recreation department's Camp Crayon and graduated its second class of campers. The BK Campers program was specifically designed by Foerster to help prepare those 4-year-olds who are to enter kindergarten in the coming school year.

Foerster said this has been an emotional year for the children whose first day of class last fall was held on Sept. 11. "This has been a really special class and the children have done much more than we even thought they could," she added.

American Legion honors veterans

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Members of the Antioch American Legion Post 748 and the women's auxiliary unit will be honoring veterans in a couple of different ways over the next couple of weeks.

Poppies will be distributed in exchange for cash contributions on Friday, May 17 and Saturday, May 18. The proceeds are used to benefit programs for veterans and their families.

Zella Larson, chair of the poppy committee said, "Both the men and the women's auxiliary will be out on Friday most of the day. We stay out distributing poppies as long as our stamina holds up."

The hours on Saturday are somewhat dependent on the success of the distribution. "In the past, we've always come in by noon so we could tally and get our deposit into the bank," said Larson. "If things are going well, we may stay out longer and make our deposit on Monday."

She added that the American Legion as permission to distribute the poppies from Armanetti's, Jewel, Piggly Wiggly and the Post Office. She said that she hopes to have large placards made to put at the entrances of these locations to let passersby know the poppies are available.

Larson explained that the poppies are made by disabled veterans in both Illinois VA hospitals and Veteran Homes and that these veterans receive a small income for their work.

Less than one week later, on Wednesday, May 22, the combined forces of the American Legion and the women's auxiliary will be placing flags in seven different cemeteries in the area.

"This is quite an undertaking," said auxiliary member Margaret Cole. "We have to go through the cemeteries and match the names with what we have on our lists, but it's well worth the effort."

Residents dish up 8,500 pounds food

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Each year the National Association of Letter Carriers (NALC) union food drive in Antioch fills the shelves of local food pantries. This year, residents carried 8,500 pounds of food out to their mailboxes for carriers to pick up along with the outgoing mail.

"We will distribute the 8,500 pounds of food to local pantries," said Union Steward Todd Erickson. "The food collected will go to the Antioch Community Food Pantry, St. Peter's Food Pantry and the Antioch Township Food Pantry."

He added, "On behalf of the employees at the Antioch Post Office, the National Association of Letter Carriers Branch 409 and the three local food pantries, a heartfelt thank you to each Antioch resident."

An open letter written to all Antioch residents expressed the same sentiment and was signed by Erickson, Postmaster Tom Prince, Ann Krumpos of the Antioch Community Food Pantry and Deacon Scott Keenan of St. Peter's Food Pantry.

Co-sponsors of the food drive with NALC are the U.S. Postal Service, the United Way, and the AFL-CIO Community Services division. Other national supporters include the United Auto Workers/Saturn Partnerships and the Campbell Soup Company.

Local sponsors include local postal management, National Rural Letter Carrier Association and the American Postal Workers Union.

"This was really a successful food drive," said Erickson. "We appreciate everyone who participated."

Car seat safety check May 18

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

"As a parent, you take for granted that the car seat is going to work," said Lt. Chris Lienhardt information officer for the Antioch Fire Dept. "Car seats are complicated and there is a lot getting them adjusted properly."

Because many of these seats aren't being used as intended, the fire department is conducting a car seat safety check on Saturday, May 18 from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. and the fire station located at 835 Holbek, on the corner of Holbek and Orchard.

"Parents have the best intentions, but studies show that the leading cause of child fatalities is in the car," said Lienhardt.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, up to 92 percent of children that currently ride in car seats are doing so in a seat that is not being used correctly."

The inspection is free of charge and the fire department will have certified technicians onsite to both inspect the seats and to offer instruction on the proper use of the seats.

The fire department offers the following reminders to those using car seats.

All children under 20 pounds must ride in a rear-facing seat. Children over 20 pounds are less than one year old must also ride in a rear-facing seat, though they need to have one with a higher weight rating.

Never leave the carrying handle of an infant seat in the up position. These handles are not crash tested and will splinter during a crash.

Children between 20-40 pounds need to be in seats with a five-point harness system. Children between 40-80 pounds need to be in a booster seat.

Bulky clothing such as snowsuits and heavy winter coats do not allow for an accurate fit of the safety system.

Always buckle up children no matter how short the trip. Over 75 percent of all accidents happen within 25 miles of home.

Lap belts alone are not safe enough for children. Children under the age of 12 years old need to ride in the back seat of the car.

"We at the fire department are concerned with all safety, not just fire safety," said Lienhardt. "We hope parents and grandparents will recognize the importance of these safety checks and stop by the fire station."

Some angels aren't silent

OUR TOWN

Julie Murphy

Ten months ago I was writing about a unique group who called itself the Silent Angels and who won a good portion of the Fourth of July sport and game competitions here in Antioch. Last week I was glancing at the news on television and saw Julia Roberts making a tearful, heartfelt plea of the government to increase research spending from $3.5 million to over $15 million to research a cure for a rare disease called Rett's Syndrome.

The Silent Angels is a non-profit organization established February 2001 to raise awareness and money to research a treatment of a devastating neurological disease called Rett's Syndrome named for the scientist Andreas Rett who discovered the chromosomal mutation. The organization's founder Karin Johnson, whose five-year old daughter suffers from the disease said, "This syndrome affects one in 10,000 live female births. It's a mutation of the X chromosome. Males with this mutation usually don't survive birth, and if they do they generally don't see a first birthday."

Johnson described the horrific symptoms: "The girls develop normally for the first 6-18 months of their lives, and then they quit making their milestones. If they've learned to talk, they lose their speech. Then they lose the purposeful use of their hands and arms. If they've learned to walk, they lose that skill too."

With its fighting spirit intact, Johnson said the group intends to defend all of its titles again this year at the Fourth of July celebration here in Antioch.

Before that, however, Silent Angels is holding its second annual bowling fundraiser at Bertrand Lanes in Waukegan on May 26 from noon-3 p.m. One can either give a donation at the door, or fill out a pledge sheet.

"We need to raise money for research to help these girls," said Johnson.

For more information, or to make a donation contact the Silent Angels at Silent Angels MJRF, P.O. Box 561, Antioch, IL 60002, by phone 262-862-9425 or by e-mail silentangels@core.com.

There will be an open house to honor Dorothy Horan for her 80th birthday at the Antioch Fire Station on Sunday, May 19 from 1-4 p.m.

Any and all wishing to pass along are birthday greeting are welcome to stop by to do so.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Village will listen to public concerns

Appointed to act as chair of village planning and zoning, I feel I must respond to the "Village won't listen" article published in another newspaper ("News Sun"). The author incorrectly implies that the village board members will not listen to input from a group of Antioch residents in regard to Wal-Mart.

Nothing can be further from the truth.

The meeting was continued to allow planning and zoning committee members to have the time to ask full and in-depth questions of Great Lakes Principals (presenting the Wal-Mart proposal). Additionally, both positive and negative input is deeply wanted from the public on this issue.

If reported correctly, the reading audience could have been informed that the lights in the building (a school) would have been turned off in fifteen minutes. If that had happened, we would have been accused of holding a meeting in the dark.

Great Lakes Principals presented a three-hour, in-depth proposal because we said we wanted no surprises and wanted to know, up front, exactly what was being proposed.

I want to assure the public that village board members are treating this as a serious issue and will reach a decision that represents the overall needs of all the residents of Antioch. Trustees take an oath to uphold the laws of the State of Illinois and of Antioch.

Proceeding forward on a petition does not automatically mean that an issue is a "done deal." Following the proper procedure allows all sides to be heard and for trustees to reach a decision based upon the facts of a case.

In closing, I want to commend the planning and zoning committee members for serving the community to the best of their ability. It takes a lot for an individual to selflessly volunteer and sit in front of what is sometimes a verbally hostile crowd and conduct a public hearing.

I hope that the next meeting, scheduled for June 6, will be conducted in a manner in which all of Antioch can be proud.

Scott Pierce
Trustee, Village of Antioch

Wal-Mart will impact Antioch

The current Super Wal-Mart proposal filed with the Village of Antioch could significantly impact the vitality of our downtown, or local lakes and wildlife and our quality of life all with little or no gain in tax revenue.

Studies have shown that any increase in jobs by Wal-Mart is more than offset by the loss of jobs from businesses forced to close. According to a May 7 "Chicago Tribune" article, Winn-Dixie, a grocery chain is closing stores in Texas and Oklahoma due to the intense competition led by Wal-Mart. These closures will result in the loss of about 5,300 jobs, or 4.4 percent of its workforce.

The village is already hurting financially and this proposal has it paying nearly $250,000 in road improvements. The developer has also requested reimbursement with interest for $1 million estimated for the cost of providing utility extensions.

The village does not need to get further into debt.

In addition, studies show that over 50 percent of the estimated sales for the new Wal-Mart will be captured sales from existing downtown businesses and existing area Wal-Mart stores. These captured sales will surely be the demise of some existing Antioch businesses.

You would think that this proposal should be a moot point because it is in clear violation of the Comprehensive Plan written by and for the Village of Antioch. "The village is a community with a pleasant, small town character and quality. The mission of the Comprehensive Plan is to preserve and improve the character of the village."

A 200,000 square foot store does not fit into this mission statement.

The Comprehensive Plan specifies two types of land use classifications for businesses. The category that the Super Wal-Mart falls under is commercial.

The Comprehensive Plan states: "For the study area, it is suggested that 5 acres be considered the maximum in order to discourage large centers which would have a negative impact upon existing downtown Antioch and nearby existing shopping centers, along the southwest fringe of downtown."

This proposal is calling for the planned development of 66 acres, over 10 times the suggested maximum. If you feel the plan is outdated, work on updating the plan to reflect the current and future vision of Antioch. Do not let the current proposal dictate Antioch's future growth.

LAST CALL

John Phelps

Now you know

How many people were aware that an estimated 1.5 million people are diagnosed with lupus, 90 percent of which are women?

Thought so.

Well, the Lupus Foundation of Illinois is here to help make everyone more cognizant.

This chronic autoimmune disease can affect any part of the body. The immune system becomes hyperactive, attacking healthy tissues and organs. It's still undetermined the exact cause of lupus but folks, keep an eye out for the symptoms, like achy, painful and or swollen joints, an unexplained fever over 100 for more than a few days, or numbness or paleness in the fingers and or toes.

"We've started stem-cell research. It's successful but you still need to monitor the patient closely," said Lindenhurst's Mary Erl, a board member and co-chairman of the first annual northside Lupus Foundation of Illinois golf outing last week at Brae Loch Golf Course in Grayslake. Erl is also a survivor of more than 20 years from this somewhat mysterious disease.

She used to be on the committee for the southside Lupus golf outing, which has hosted its annual golf outing for the past eight years at the Odyssey Golf Club in Tinley Park. This year's event at the Odyssey will take place on Sept. 12.

But Erl moved north to Lindenhurst and thought it would be a great idea to start a "northside" golf outing to further aid in lupus research and education.

"I thought it was very successful for our first one up here. We had 65 golfers," said Lupus Foundation of Illinois Executive Director Pat Galloway, also a lupus survivor who has been clean for six years. "We hope to have this outing up her every spring. If you've had a disease like this or similar, your perspective on life totally changes. You find yourself smiling more when you get out of bed because you appreciate the simple things more."

Galloway said that the Lupus Foundation of Illinois received $200,000 in pledges for stem cell treatments at Rush Memorial Hospital in Chicago. In addition, $100,000 was generated from the Lupus Research Institute.

Lupus is very individualized and if detected early, 90 percent of it is treatable. As far as treatments, there are plenty of drugs and antibiotics that help curtail and limit the affects. But the side effects from the treatments can be equally devastating as having the disease it self.

"Lupus not a direct hereditary gene," added Galloway. "Osteoporosis, arthritis and in the case of chemotherapy, sterility, are some of the unfortunate side effects," said Galloway

The golf outing started eight years ago when Tim Meehan was suddenly afflicted with and passed away from lupus. The event serves as a tribute and memorial.

The Illinois Lupus Foundation, which evolved 29 years ago, also holds an annual 5k walk/run over the summer. Last year, that event drew over 800 people.

The Chicago Wolves and La Jolla (Calif.) Pharmaceuticals were proud sponsors in the event.

As for general information on lupus or to inquire about any of the foundation's events, please call 773-445-7071.

Mustang softball bullies way past Sequoits

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Perhaps the Antioch varsity softball team was a little overanxious when it traveled to Mundelein to tangle with the North Suburban Lake champion Mustangs Tuesday afternoon.

"That was one of the ugliest games we've had all year," said Sequoit head coach Jen Schultz, whose team was blindsided 11-0 in five innings. "We shot ourselves in the foot. It was overkill. We were so pumped about the game but when we took the field, we were intimidated. We killed ourselves in the field and led to lack of confidence at the plate."

Mundelein's Rachel Cleaveland had something to do with it too.

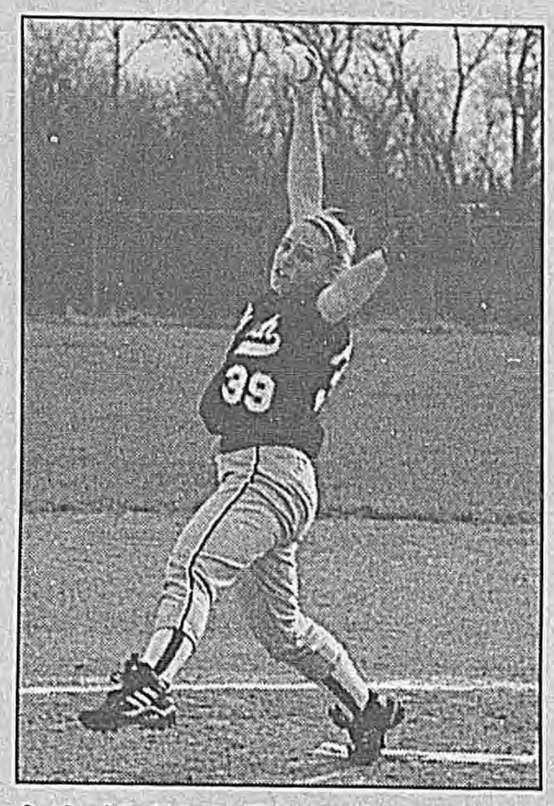
The junior ace kept Antioch off balance with the high heater all afternoon. She set down eight Sequoits while firing a one-hitter in going the distance to improve her season mark to 20-1.

"She's got great movement and really picks her spots," said senior Trista Campbell, who smacked a two-run homer over the left field fence in a 3-run second-inning for the hosts. "We've also been coming in for extra hitting on Tuesday and Thursday morning. That's really paid off for us at the plate."

Campbell finished the afternoon 2-for-3, including the round-tripper to go along with three RBI and a run scored.

The Mundelein bats were alive early and often, to the tune of 14 hits off Antioch ace Kristin Elstrom.

Brandi Simon went 3-for-3 with a double, three runs scored and an RBI, Amber Henley 2-for-4 with a runs scored, and Ashley Wierema 1-for-3 with two RBI and two runs scored. Five consecutive singles to start the game helped produce four runs, more than enough for Cleaveland.



Antioch's Kristin Elstrom fires the heat during regular-season action against Libertyville. The Sequoits hit a minor speed bump Tuesday when it fell to North Suburban Lake champion Mundelein 11-0. —Photo by Steve Young

The lone hit for Antioch was a second-inning single off the bat of Carolyn Cooley.

After that, Cleaveland retired the next 10 batters to end the game.

"Rachel's really improved a lot (since her sophomore year)," said Schultz, who helped coach the Mustangs for four years during the Michelle Kass era. "She's got great control. We we're suckered in by the high fastballs today."

For the season, Cleaveland has struck out 177 batters while issuing only 14 free passes.

Errors didn't help the Sequoits' cause. They committed four on the day after going 10 games prior with none.

"The hoopla's over now," said Schultz. "We're going to keep our heads high and work on the basics (Wed. in practice). We get our throws down and work on our short game."

The two teams will square off again May 16 at Polley Field in Antioch. First pitch is slated for 4:30 p.m.

"We've just been trying to enjoy ourselves out there," said Mustang head coach Toni Campbell, whose team lost its first two games of the season but has rolled off 25-straight since.

The Mustangs, who will host the sectionals in a couple of weeks, follow-up the return date with Antioch by traveling to either NSC Prairie champ Zion or Vernon Hills May 18 for the outright conference crown.

With the loss, Antioch fell to 6-3 in the NSC Lake and a very respectable 19-8 overall. Antioch will travel to Cary-Grove May 21 in a final tune-up for regionals.

Hoogerhyde's doing better, and so is Sequoit baseball

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

Serious injuries can sometimes be expected in sports that have a high degree of physical play such as basketball and football. However, when three-sport Antioch High School athlete Brad Hoogerhyde stepped on the mound for the second game of a double header against Warren High School, baseball proved to be the unlikely threat.

While pitching to a Warren batter, Hoogerhyde found a line drive shot off the hitter's bat coming directly at his face with no time to react. What resulted was Hoogerhyde on the ground covering his face while blood came down the sides.

After a spectator called an ambulance, Hoogerhyde was rushed to the hospital where he would spend the next four nights.

The injuries suffered by Hoogerhyde were a broken bone in his eye socket, two broken bones in his cheek, and a shattered main cheekbone.

Luckily for Hoogerhyde none of the injuries suffered had any impact on his vision. The second day of Hoogerhyde's hospital stay consisted of surgery where three titanium plates were inserted into his cheek.

Although the magnitude of Hoogerhyde's injuries was serious at the time, all that remains now is a swollen cheek and a swollen eye.

Hoogerhyde will miss the remainder of this season. However, he expects to be ready for football season is the fall, and continue on as being a three-sport athlete at Antioch high School.

As for his teammates, they looked to pick up a North Suburban Conference Lake Division win against Mundelein in Antioch on Tuesday. Taking a 1-0 lead into the sixth inning, Sequoit pitcher Shawn Schuler gave up two runs in the top half of the sixth to put Antioch down one run. In the bottom of the sixth, Antioch loaded the bases, however, failed to bring any runs across to score.

After a scoreless top-half to seventh-inning, Antioch quickly tied the game up in the bottom of the frame. With a runner on first, right fielder Scott Coles singled to move the runner to third, before a wild Mundelein pitch got past the catcher and allowed Nick Severson to score the winning run.

With the win, Antioch improves to 21-7 on the season. The seeding meeting to determine playoff pairings was held late Tuesday night. Antioch surely looks to be one of the top-four seeds for the upcoming regionals, which begin in two weeks.

ACHS netters sixth in NSC; sectionals next

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

Strong play from the No. 2 singles and doubles netted the Antioch varsity boy's tennis team a sixth-place effort in the North Suburban Conference Meet over the weekend at Zion-Benton.

Andrew Nichols, playing No. 1 singles for the Sequoits, was defeated in the preliminary round of the tournament by Robert Cooper of Mundelein in straight sets 2-6, 5-7.

Although Nichols had a tough outing, Antioch's No. 2 singles player put some points on the board in winning the consolation title. Rob Janke defeated his Vernon Hills opponent in the preliminary round before losing in the first round. Janke defeated his opponent from Zion in the second round. He then prevailed in the third round over Warren en route to the consolation title.

In the three matches and six games that Janke won, he defeated his opponents by a combined score of 37-12.

"The match that stood out was the match against Zion," said Antioch head coach Brian Plinske. "A couple of times Rob found himself at the net after hitting a short ball. This is a bad position to be in, however, it didn't phase him, the kid was unflappable."

Much of the same situation occurred in the doubles competition for Antioch. After Nate Pratt and Carl Slimp lost to the Round Lake doubles team in two close sets (6-7, 6-7), while the No. 2 team fared much better.

After a 6-1, 6-1 victory over Vernon Hills, the Antioch duo dropped straight sets to Warren. However, recovering form their losses, they went on to defeat Round Lake and Mundelein to win the No. 2 doubles consolation championship.

"It must be tough to play against Mark and Andrew," said Plinske. "When Mark can hit a 50-foot high lob and bounced it to within two feet of the baseline consistently, you just know it's going to be a tough day. The only option (for the other team) is to go at the net. When the net man (Andrew) is getting a racket on everything and hitting winners, there isn't much left. Mark and Andrew played the best match they have all season."

Antioch's No. 3 doubles team of Ben Newton and Pro Shah started their conference tournament on the right foot by beating Wauconda in the preliminary round. However, after losing to Lake Forest in the first round, Newton and Shah dropped their second straight match in three sets to the No. 3 Grant team.

Lady Sequoit soccer hoping to turn tide in post-season

Rematch with Stevenson in regional opener

By WESLEY WARD
Correspondent

Earlier in the season, the Antioch's girl's soccer team suffered a tough 2-1 loss against North Suburban rival Stevenson.

In that loss, the Sequoits found themselves down two goals in the first 12 minutes of play. Gina Florian pulled a goal back for Antioch in the 20th minute, but the Sequiots squandered several opportunities in front of goal and were unable to find an equalizer.

"We may have lost 2-1, but we thought that was a game we could have won," said Antioch head coach Charlie Trout. "We had plenty of opportunities to win, we just didn't convert."

On Tuesday, the two teams will face once again in the first round of regional action. Safe to say, the Sequoits will be looking for a little revenge over the seventh-seeded Patriots. Pasts results will not matter come game time, and as hosts of the sectional, a home crowd will be on hand to support Antioch.

"Defensively, we are going to need to play tight and limit the mental mistakes," said Trout. "Last time we played Stevenson, we were in a two goal whole early and that is hard for any team to get out of."

Vicky Garrison, Beth Fries, Katie Lincoln and Katie Malcolm have been strong defensively for the Sequoits this season. However, in order for Antioch to advance to the sectional final and face the winner of the Lake Zurich-Zion-Benton game, the defensive unit is going to have to raise its game to another level.

Offensively, Robyn Mortenson has led the team in scoring with 21 goals and seven assists. Mortenson and Lauren Hungarland have combined to give the Sequoits a formidable 1-2 punch on the field.

'It has been a season where we are up one day and down the next. If the right team shows up we have every chance of winning'

Antioch Head Coach Charlie Trout

Hungarland, with 18 assists on the season, became to school's all-time leader in that category this season and will be attending NCAA Division I outfit, Davidson College, next fall.

But injuries have forced Trout to play underclassmen throughout the season. While the strong group of sophomores and freshmen has developed significantly over the season, the Sequoits youth has had a part to play in the team's inconsistency. This is best exhibited by the team's 5-1 loss against Mundelein last week. It did rebound however for a convincing 6-0 victory over Round Lake.

"It has been a season where we are up one day and down the next," said Trout. "If the right team shows up we have every chance of winning."

Against the Pats, the right team had better show up or Antioch's season will come to an abrupt end.

Several ribbons and special awards were presented to students who participated in the Antioch Woman's Club art show held at the Antioch Community High School (ACHS).

This is the fifteenth year the club has sponsored the show. This year five of eight feeder schools invited and the high school itself participated in the show.

The judge's choice award went to Cameron Van Deusen, and the visitors' choice award went to Ryan Burgess, both are students of ACHS.

Winners in the three-week summer art camp program category were Marcus Sheldon of St. Peter School and K.J. Florman of Millburn School. The first alternate in that category was Danielle Franke of ACHS, second was Adam Wilson of Millburn and third was Nathan David of Antioch Upper Grade School (AUGS).

Eleven first place blue ribbons were awarded to the following: Megan Toczel, Emmons School; Burgess, ACHS; Franke, ACHS; Brandon Booth, Emmons School; Adam Wilson, Millburn School; Florman, Millburn; Gabriel Manalansan, Palombi Middle School; Bryan Montgomery, Palombi Middle School; Mike Olson, AUGS; David, AUGS; and Marcus Sheldon, St. Peter School.

Eleven second place red ribbon winners were selected, two each from ACHS, Millburn School, AUGS, Palombi Middle School and Emmons School and one from St. Peter School.

Fifty-five students received honorable mention with 10 awards each going to ACHS, Millburn School, AUGS, Palombi Middle School and Emmons School and five from St. Peter School.

For fifteen years the Antioch Woman's Club has sponsored a special art show for area schools.

The following schools were invited to participate in this show: AUGS, Emmons School, Grass Lake School, Millburn School, Palombi Middle School, Prince of Peace School, St. Peter School and ACHS.

In addition to encouraging children to read, the library has several different performances planned at the Lions Pavilion in William's Park, directly behind the library. Performers will ride BMX stunt bikes and discuss bicycle safety. Additionally, there will be a show of exotic animals, magic tricks, juggling, sing songs, dance, stories, and a look back at prehistoric times with dinosaurs.

Reading Road Trip adventurers must be 3-12 years old. The journey begins on June 17 and ends July 29. For more information, check the web site www.antiochdistrictlibrary.org.

Osmond wants funds restored

State Representative Timothy Osmond (R-Antioch) is calling upon members of the state legislature to reinstate funding cut from programs for the mentally ill and developmentally disabled.

Osmond held a press conference in Springfield, backing a proposal from House Republican Leader Lee Daniels to restore the funding cut from agencies managing those programs.

"The proposed cuts would be disastrous for programs that serve our most vulnerable citizens," Osmond said. "Many care providers are already experiencing financial hardships due to late payments from the state. Cutting their budgets will jeopardize the care they provide to those who cannot care for themselves."

Developmentally disabled and mentally ill programs lost more that $66 million from the General revenue Funds in the planned budget for the Fiscal Year 2003. The proposal put forth by the house republicans calls for reductions in operational and administrative expenses in the Illinois Department of Human Services. Osmond noted equipment purchases, contractual services, opertion of automobiles and increase in grant line items would be targeted for the cuts.

WAL-MART

report found that Antioch would receive $122,000 in new property tax annually on property currently bringing about $25,000 in annual property taxes.

Of the area defined as the prime trade area with Wadsworth to the east, Richmond to the west, Lake Villa to the south (the smallest leg outward from Antioch) and Hwy. 50 to the north, about 60,000 people, Barrett said, "The bottom line is that the trade area is significant in size in the number of people and not just acreage. It's growing and it (sales tax revenues) is leaving."

He also noted that 70 percent of Antioch's sales tax revenues come from about three sources: food, drug and automotive. "This is a fragile, vulnerable base," he said. "The other 30 percent doesn't come from general merchandise."

Barrett said that 85 percent of the project volume, or $42 million, would capture sales that are currently leaving. "This project allows Antioch to take back the sales tax dollars leaving Antioch."

Of the affect on current businesses, excluding grocery, he said, "Take a look at the sales tax reports. There aren't places in Antioch to take this volume (general sales) from."

Chris Danos, Wal-Mart real estate manager for the chain in Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan (less the Detroit metro area), talked about why the decision was made to come to Antioch and why the decision was made to come to the location at Deep Lake Rd. and Rte. 173.

"Why Antioch?" he asked rhetorically. He then answered his own question and said that when Wal-Mart tracked its own sales within a 10 mile radius of Antioch it found that $10 million in sales in other stores comes from the Antioch trade area.

He then said that the chain looks for good east-west roads and good north-south roads to access the store.

"Our stores take more than 20 acres of land," he added. "You're not going to find that downtown."

He said the company had researched every piece of land along Deep Lake Rd. from the new high school north until it hit the wetlands. "The lack of wetlands made this site desirable," he said.

Linda Huff, an environmental consultant from Huff and Huff, is working with the developer to ensure that if the project goes through, there is no impact on the surrounding lakes and wetlands. She said, "We are using a variety of practices so that there is no impact."

Huff explained those practices as using no fertilizers or herbicides, sweeping the dirt that comes from cars so it doesn't enter the system with the rain and using salting alternatives.

"We want to not have an affect on the environment. We want to this development to be zero impact,' she said.

Bob Silhan, director of planning, zoning and building for the Village of Antioch, made his comments before the meeting was continued to June 6. Notable in his comments was that while the Comprehensive Plan talks about preserving the character of Antioch it also says, under mission goals (page 12), that it should avoid problems such as a depleted tax base and increase taxes and employment in the area.

was interested in purchasing."

Somerville said the woman met Carlson and Rogge through the individual selling the camper. They allegedly convinced the woman that there was a camper in northern Wisconsin that would be suitable for her, but that she would need to make up her mind right away.

"The woman gave the two men $1,000 cash for the purchase of the camper," said Somerville. "The men then also offered to sell the victim the car they were driving, and she gave them an additional $750 toward the purchase of the vehicle."

The victim told Somerville that Rogge and Carlson offered to use the car to pick up the camper from Wisconsin, and that she has seen neither the men nor her money since that time.

Investigation led to the positive identification of Rogge and Carlson, who are both believed to be in Florida.

"Beware of deals that appear to be too good to be true and require a quick purchase involving cash," said Somerville. "These are often the warning flags of a scam."

If convicted, Rogge and Carlson could face 2-5 years in prison. Anyone with information concerning the whereabouts of the two men is urged to call the Antioch Police Dept. 847-395-8585.

PD apprehends forger

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Chad Abbott, 20, of Round Lake, was arrested on April 4 for forgery and possession of stolen property. The arrest came after an investigation of a suspicious transaction at the State Bank of The Lakes in Antioch.

Detective Sgt. Craig Somerville of the Antioch Police Dept. said an account holder contacted the bank after receiving notice of an unauthorized check in the amount of $800 that had been cashed on her account. The victim filed an affidavit of forgery and contacted police.

"The suspect apparently found an old checkbook belonging to the victim alongside the road near his house, and decided to write himself a check for $800," said Somerville. "The victim wasn't sure how the checkbook, which was fairly old, got into his hands."

Investigation led to the identification and arrest of Abbott.

Forgery is a class 3 felony that is punishable by 2-5 years in prison upon conviction.

"The lesson here is to destroy old checkbooks before disposing of them," said Somerville.

FOOT NOTES

Dr. Lee M. Tisa, Podiatrist

NEW ADVANCES IN BUNION TREATMENT NOW AVAILABLE IN LAKE COUNTY

I have been performing a new surgical technique for the permanent correction of bunion foot deformities.
The technique is based on Swiss bone fixation principal, which took over 40 years to develop and perfect in Europe.
The advantages of this new procedure are many; 1) Eliminates the need for cast immobilization after surgery; 2) May be done on an out-patient basis, which eliminates costly hospitalization; 3) Enables the patient to resume normal shoe gear in 3 weeks, where other procedures usually take 8 to 12 weeks; 4) Immediate mobility after surgery without the use of crutches, walkers or cane.
Many patients have this procedure performed on a Friday and return to work on Monday, however this is limited to those patients who do not stand a great deal while at work.
Utilizing the Swiss technique, the bunion deformity is corrected by repositioning the bone. The bone is then fixated in the proper position. The patient may exercise the joint immediately, which promotes faster healing and alleviates the usual joint stiffness normally associated with bunion surgery.
If you are suffering from painful bunions, please feel free to contact Dr. Lee M. Tisa for a no cost consultation to discuss your condition and your treatment options.

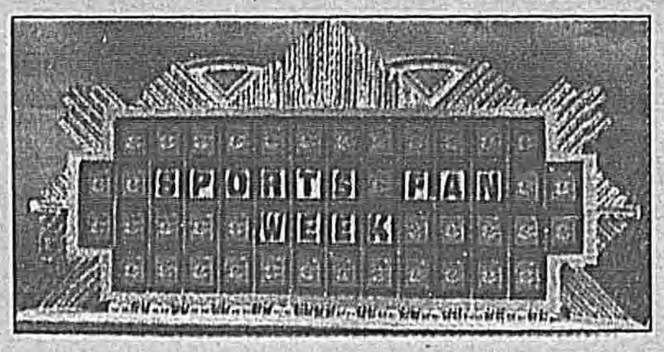
Lakeland's own buys a vowel for real on 'Wheel of Fortune's' Chicago visit

By Dave Sherman
Lakeland Advertising/Marketing Manager

For more than 20 years Lake County residents, as well as 22 million others, have tuned in each weeknight making Wheel of Fortune not only the most popular game show in America, but also the No. 1-rated syndicated program on TV.

Part of the show's charm is the viewer's ability to play along at home. Unlike many other game shows, Wheel of Fortune features puzzles and questions that most people, at least eventually, know the answer to.



Most people think if they ever got the chance, they would win a fortune on the show. But what if that dream did come true? What if had the chance to be a contestant? How would you do competing against more than 10,000 other hopefuls? And if selected, how would you fare under the pressure of the lights, audience and the chance to win—or lose—thousands of dollars?

I recently had the opportunity to find out.

When I heard that Wheel of Fortune was coming to Chicago I e-mailed everyone I knew and told them to sign up for a random chance to audition for the show. Who would have guessed that I'd be the one selected?

One month after filling out a form on WLS-TV's web site, I received an e-mail congratulating me on being selected to try out for the show. At the audition held at the Palmer House in downtown Chicago, we were told that more than 10,000 people applied and that the number chosen was less than 500.

We were broken up into audition groups of around 100 people, where you had one chance and one chance only to pick a letter for a puzzle that was projected on the hotel ballroom's wall. Your name was called and you picked a letter.

If you got it right, you picked again. If you were wrong, there was no second chance. Ironically, on my only turn I called a letter that was already picked. But I guess that didn't matter.

Next was a written exam of sorts. You had five minutes to solve twenty puzzles that were partially filled in and divided into four completely different categories. It was hard. Guessing, I'd say I got maybe six or seven correct. The entire time, both during the exam, when it was your turn to guess and even while you watched the others play, you were being watched and the producers were taking notes.

Sherman celebrates a $2,300 win with host Pat Sajak. Did he win more? Tune in on May 20 to find out.—Photo courtesy of Wheel of Fortune/Sony

After the exam we took a break. The producers told us that about 25 of us would remain after they graded the exams. After 20 minutes they came back, thanked us all for coming and read the list of finalists. I was the last one called.

The finalists then broke into groups of four and played simulated games. I did much better during my two games, although I never guessed the puzzle. After an hour they told us that if we made it they would call us on Tuesday.

I received my call on Monday night. Ever heard the term "bouncing off walls"? That is exactly what my wife Tami and I were doing. I'm lucky that our cat Tanner wasn't hurt in the celebration. On Thursday, I was going to be a real contestant on Wheel of Fortune. The morning the show was taped at Navy Pier, after signing a contract that is more than 10 pages long, we were given the rules and potential categories. Did you know that there are more than 40 different puzzle group categories? Then we were sequestered by the "game show marshal". Ever since the quiz quiz show scandals of the 1950s, federal law has required game show security.

After all the paperwork, we went to the makeup room and then finally were able to tour the 2,000-seat makeshift studio and practice spinning "The Wheel." The first thing that came out of every contestant's mouth—there were 15 of us filming five episodes—was just how heavy the wheel was. After practicing we went back upstairs to eat lunch and drew straws to see who would go first.

I was in the first group. We had no time to be nervous. Immediately after being picked we were walked straight down and on stage. We never even got the chance to meet Vanna White or Pat Sajak before the show began. One minute I was eating a sandwich, the next I was standing in front of 2,000 people including my wife, my father-in-law Stu and his mom, Betty, and our friends, Bruce and Mindy. It took about five seconds to realize this was real. Any mistake would be seen in front of more than 20 million people. Just as the butterflies were about to hit—the show began.

The pressure and nervousness then went away as I began to play. The biggest difference when you are on stage, as compared to playing at home on your couch, is that when you're at home it's always your turn. On the show, you have two seconds to think or you lose your turn. It's that quick, not a lot of time to think.

About now you are probably wondering how I did. Unfortunately, I don't want to spoil the surprise. You'll have to watch Wheel of Fortune this Monday, May 20, at 6:30 p.m. on ABC-TV channel 7.

'Hollywood Arms' difficult to embrace

The transition from book to stage often involves crossing a slippery slope. That's no more apparent than in the case of "Hollywood Arms," a new comedy based on comedienne Carol Burnett's best-selling 1986 memoir "One More Time."

Written by Burnett and her daughter Carrie Hamilton, who died earlier this year, and directed by Harold Prince, "Hollywood Arms" premiered at Chicago's Goodman Theatre amidst high hopes.

But even a solid cast and fine set weren't enough to hide the awkwardness of this rambling, jerky and overlong production—occasional laughs and bright touches of nostalgia notwithstanding.

Act I set in 1941 just prior to World War II, follows Helen's (Sara Niemietz) journey from child to young woman. She and her protective fussbudget grandmother Nanny (the superb Linda Lavin who never breaks character) take a tiny, low-rent apartment in a decidedly less-than-glamorous part of Hollywood. Their room is down the hall from that of Helen's mother Louise (Michele Pawk), a hard-drinking free-spirited woman caught up in illusions of becoming a big-time celebrity reporter.

CRITIC'S CHOICE

Money is tight, and Louise's ex-husband Jody (Frank Wood), in and out of detox centers and suffering from tuberculosis, can only offer minimal help. In one sad but amusing scene, to raise money the grandmother, mother, daughter and a neighbor's boy are all manning phones as the apartment is turned into a short-lived betting parlor.

Young Helen's favorite escape is atop the Hollywood Arms' roof, where her pent-up creative energies take flight. Here the determined girl creates playlets and invents radio broadcasts for an imaginary audience.

By Act II, the apartment has shrunk further with another occupant—Helen's half-sister is now 11 and under her grandmother's wings. It's 1951 and a grown-up Helen (Donna Lynne Champlin) has taken classes at UCLA in acting, which leads her to New York in search of a big break. Her appearance on the Ed Sullivan show is eagerly watched by her dysfunctional family back home. She's a survivor and has found the success that has eluded others in her family.

But things have gone downhill for Louise, whose second marriage to nice-guy Bill (Patrick Clear) has collapsed as her drinking has increased.

"Hollywood Arms" has not one but several possible focal points. Unfortunately, having too many stories to tell means justice cannot be done to any of them.

"Hollywood Arms" runs through June 1. For ticket information call 312-443-3800.—By Tom Witom

Michael Smith returns to Greenleaf Grill

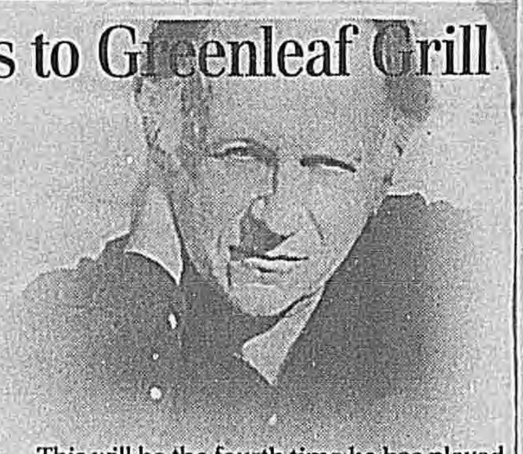
The Lake County Folk Club presents Michael Smith in concert Sunday, May 19, at 7 p.m. at the Greenleaf Grill, 301 Greenleaf St. in Park City.

Opening the show will be the club's own resident songwriter, Marcia Kreiger, performing some of her own music.

Smith is a name known to millions of folkies, both as a writer and performer. He has penned may songs which have become standards in folk music repertoires and has set the standard by which the writing and performance of contemporary acoustic music may be measured.

Over the years, Michael Smith has continued to raise the bar with new lyrical, melodious and insightful songs.

A master of the guitar, Smith accompaniments are intricate, interesting and skillful, and he manages to make them look easy. While many guitarists change tunings to create different riffs, he has no problem playing it all in standard tuning.



This will be the fourth time he has played at the Greenleaf Grill. If you haven't seen Smith in concert before, you won't want to miss this one, and, if you are already a fan, this is one of the best and most intimate venues you are likely to see him play.

Admission is $10, $8 for club members and $5 for seniors/students. The Greenleaf Grill is located on the east side of Greenleaf Street north of Rte. 120 and south of Washington St.

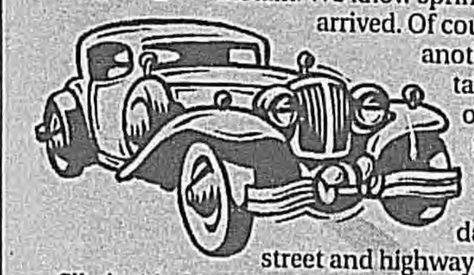
Muscle Cars
on display in Belvidere

When one drives down the road, the sweet smell of fresh turned earth fills the air, almost for certain. We know spring has arrived. Of course another tell-tale sign of spring is when on a balmy day the street and highways are filled with the great old cars from America's past as the folks go cruisin'.



There are not too many people who do not like the cars from the '50s and '60s, the early Ford Mustangs, the "big iron" of the muscle car era and of course the wonderful antique cars from the early 20th century.

Many of these cars are affordable and within the financial reach of many people, with the old cars appreciating in value 12-15 percent a year.

If you are looking for something a little different to do over Memorial Day weekend, the Mecum Auction Company of Marengo, Illinois sponsors the annual Rockford Spring Classic Collector Car Auction and Expo at the Boone County Fairgrounds in Belvidere, May 24-26.

This event will feature cars from all eras, all makes, all models and in all price ranges for those interested in buying or selling. For the browser, the event takes on a carnival atmosphere with the auctioneering, a midway filled with vendors of all things automotive and great food stands, not to mention the occasional celebrity who makes an appearance.

For further information about the event or hotel availability, call 800-468-6999.

Corvette and Chevy-powered entries to compete at car show

The North Shore Corvette Club, established in 1973, will be sponsoring the 2002 "Bow Tie Extravaganza" Car Show beginning at 9 a.m. on Sunday, June 16 at Bernard Chevrolet, 1001 S. Milwaukee in Libertyville. Any Corvette or Chevy-powered vehicle is eligible to be entered in this annual event.

This is the 30th edition of the Car Show.

Three trophies in each of 26 classes will be awarded, as well as three "Best of Show" winners, a "Best of Club" award, and a "People's Choice" award. An entry fee of $20 ($25 after May 31) is required and 10 percent of each entry fee will be donated for the second straight year to the Great Lakes Burn Camp.

General admission for non-participants is $3, with children 12 and under admitted free. The event features door prizes, a 50/50 cash raffle, a food concession and several new product vendor spaces. During the event, The Fairlanes will provide live music. Pre-registration is available on line through the club's web site, at www.northshorecorvetteclub.org. For additional information, contact club President Skip Gallagher at 847-359-9583.

When we line up to see summer "family fare films" based upon comic book characters, our expectations tend to be low. An interesting film that adults will enjoy—probably not. "Spider-Man" is a pleasant surprise; the acting, special effects and the plot are excellent. It's on target for its audience of teenage boys, but be warned that the violence, in our opinion, is not appropriate for the many toddlers we saw in the theater. Movies adapted from action hero comics don't always equate to being Disney-like, so please use the ratings as a guide rather than depending on the advertising machine of the studio in making a decision on which films your children should see.

Peter Parker (Tobey Maguire), who ultimately discovers his powers as Spider-Man, is a dorky teenager who lives with his Uncle Ben and Aunt May (Cliff Robertson and Rosemary Harris). They get along, though maintain a distant relationship not uncommon for a teenage boy who is starting to feel like a man. Their home is next door to the girl of his dreams, Mary Jane (Kirsten Dunst), known as MJ. Peter's had a crush on her since first grade; she hardly knows he's alive.

On a school field trip a spider bites Peter and almost immediately, his DNA begins to change and he is turned into a different person. Before the day is over he no longer needs eyeglasses, becomes more muscular and finds he can walk up walls. He discovers his superior strength, the ability to climb, jump and spin a web that moves him between buildings. He becomes a self-confident young man with "other worldly" physical powers.

Spider-Man uses his powers for good and he soon becomes a folk hero. The only thing missing at this point in the film is a villain; provided in true villainous form by Willem Dafoe as Norman Osborn. Dafoe is probably the best bad guy around ("Clear & Present Danger" and "Shadow of the Vampire"). Norman is a rich scientist, concerned about losing a contract to a competitive firm, and decides to use himself as a guinea pig for the next stage in his research. The experiment goes haywire and he becomes The Green Goblin, arch-enemy of Spider-Man. He too has extraordinary powers, and, while some of their battles are noteworthy, the second half of the story lacks the strong drama created early in the film. Because Norman's Green Goblin is the product of an experiment gone wrong rather than innate evil, while we don't want him to out-spin Spider-Man, we are able to maintain a measure of compassion for him.

The highlight of the film is a wrestling match Peter enters when he wants to win $3,000 by staying in the ring with Bone Saw (Randy Savage) for three minutes so he can buy a car to impress MJ. He invokes his powers as Spider-Man and this experience in Peter's life teaches him an unforgettable lesson about responsibility. Unfortunately, it is a costly lesson as well. Never assume that when you leave a person that you will see them again.

Kirsten Dunst gives a rather understated performance here. Norman's son Harry (James Franco) is going out with MJ and he's a friend of Peter's. Harry adds texture to the plot and by the end of the movie he is bent on revenge against Spider-Man (whose real identity remains a secret), because of a deadly misunderstanding.

The final scenes clearly set up the sequel. As much as we like this film, what we find most interesting is Peter's transformation to Spider-Man, more than the battles that ensue with his nemesis. Box office receipts have reached a record breaking $227 million to date. This will ensure that we will see more tales spun for Spider-Man. Spider-Man II plans are already set for early 2003; by the end of the week they may be setting up for III and IV.

Discover the pleasure of socca crêpes

COOKING by the BOOK

Tom Witom

Jody Adams, chef at Boston's Rialto Restaurant, refers to her hands-on cooking style as artisanal. That is, she cooks from scratch. And she shares her secrets in a new book loaded with straightforward recipes, "In the Hands of a Chef" (William Morrow, 2002).

"When I ask you to invest time in a dish, there is always a reward in the depth of flavor," Adams explains. The recipes reflect knowledge she gleaned from extensive travels.

We first encountered socca crêpes in April during a three-day sojourn in Nice. These tasty rustic crepes, made from chickpea flour, are sold by street vendors and workingmen's cafés. Adams elevates the dish with an outstanding spinach-herb-feta filling. Her recipe, made in a nonstick pan, yields about 16 thin crepes six inches in diameter. Serve them as an appetizer or, with a salad, as a light entrée.

Socca Crêpes with Spinach and Herb Filling

Socca:
2 cups chickpea flour (available in Italian markets and at health food stores)
1 1/4 cups water, plus more if needed
3 extra-large eggs, lightly beaten
1/4 cup extra virgin olive oil
2 tsp. kosher salt
1 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
Extra virgin olive oil for cooking the crêpes
Filling:
1/4 cup extra virgin olive oil
5 garlic cloves, finely chopped
1 lb. flat-leaf spinach, trimmed of thick stems, washed and dried
Kosher salt and freshly ground black pepper
1/2 cup chopped fresh flat-leaf parsley
1/4 cup chopped fresh oregano
1/4 cup chopped fresh mint
1/4 cup chopped fresh cilantro
1/2 lb. feta cheese, crumbled
2 Tbl. extra virgin olive oil

Do ahead: The socca can be made a day or two in advance, tightly wrapped and refrigerated until ready to use.

1. Combine the flour, water, eggs, 1/4 cup of olive oil, salt and pepper in a large bowl and beat well. Allow the batter to sit for 30 minutes.

2. Stir the batter, then check the consistency. It should be the thickness of heavy cream. If the batter is too thick, add more water, 1 tablespoon at a time. (You will have about 3 cups of batter.)

3. Heat 1 teaspoon olive oil in a small nonstick sauté pan over medium heat. Ladle about 3 tablespoons of batter into the hot pan, then quickly tilt the pan to make a thin even circle of batter about 6 inches across. Cook the socca until it just starts to color, about 30 seconds, then carefully peel it away from the pan (it should come free easily), flip it, and cook the other side, adding more oil as needed. Transfer to a plate and repeat with the remaining batter. Stack the socca as they finish cooking so they don't dry out. You should end up with around 20 crêpes. Select the best 16 and set the remainder aside for another use (hint: with powdered sugar, jam or honey for breakfast). If you're making the socca ahead, let the stack cool completely, then wrap tightly in plastic wrap and refrigerate until you're ready to use them.

4. To make the filling, heat 1/4 cup of olive oil and garlic in a huge sauté pan over medium heat until the garlic becomes aromatic, 1 to 2 minutes. Add the spinach, cover and cook until wilted. Season with salt and pepper. Drain, if necessary, and let cool. Add the chopped herbs and crumbled feta to the spinach, mixing well.

5. Lay the 16 socca on a counter. Imagine each socca as a clock face and distribute the spinach mixture evenly among the socca, placing it in the upper right quadrant of each crêpe (between 12 o'clock and 3 o'clock). Fold each crêpe in half (along the 3 o'clock-9 o'clock axis) then in half again so it's folded in quarters.

6. Preheat the oven to 200 degrees F. Place a platter in the oven.

7. Heat a large sauté pan over medium-high heat. Add the olive oil. Add the folded crêpes and cook, turning once, until golden brown and crisp on each side, 3 to 5 minutes. You may have to do them in two batches. Transfer to the warm platter as you finish them. Serve warm or at room temperature.

Bluegrass comes to Woodstock

Charlie Waller & The Country Gentlemen

The Woodstock Opera House will be hosting a bluegrass event Saturday, May 18, at 7 p.m., when Charlie Waller & The Country Gentlemen will be performing, with special guest The Karl Shiflett & Big Country Show.

Since 1957 the name Charlie Waller & The Country Gentlemen has been associated with the finest sounds in bluegrass music. The reputation has been built on solid foundations, which have endured evolutionary changes and created a legend.

The Karl Shiflett & Big Country Show is an all-acoustic, traditional country music show, dedicated to the preservation and performance of the original American musical art form known as bluegrass music.

Every facet of this group's show, from their traditional one-microphone setup to their '50s- style stage outfits, can transport a listener back to a time when giants like Bill Monroe and Flatt & Scruggs still ruled the country landscape. Their infectious enthusiasm for classic bluegrass, their incredible use of dynamics and their consummate professionalism remind fans why some of those early bands were so appealing.

Reserved seating is $22. For tickets, call 815-338-5300. The Woodstock Opera House is located at 121 Van Buren St. in Woodstock.

Fostering Love

Lake Villa family of 11 looks to the future

By DENYS BUCKSTEN
Lake County Editor

As Jim and Sheila Denikas' family has grown from their two biological children to include seven foster children, the young Lake Villa couple could be worrying about the future and all the things that could go wrong.

But a funny thing is happening on the way to gray hair and wrinkles. It seems as if the Denikas' are too busy, working too hard, having too much fun and are too involved in the present to worry much about the future.

The family, who live in a six-bedroom farmhouse on 3 1/2 acres in rural Lake Villa, includes: Travis, 19; Jason, 12; Amanda, 11; twins Matthew and George, 10; Kimberly, 9; Heavenly, 8; Johnny, 7; and Bobby, 4. Jason and "Kimmy" are the Denikas' biological children.

Two of the foster children have been adopted, and except for Travis, who is of legal age, the Denikas' expect to adopt the four other kids, now placed in their home through the state's foster care program.

The Denikas' began caring for foster children by contacting Central Baptist Child and Family Services, just down the road in Lake Villa. Central Baptist social worker Robyn Ondo said the Denikas' energy, optimism, and poise and determination in the face of serious obstacles have

Job fair at CLC lists over 90 employers

By DENYS BUCKSTEN
Lake County Editor

Job Marketplace 2002, on May 30 at the College of Lake County in Grayslake, has drawn over 90 employers.

The popular annual fair will be held from 1 to 6 p.m. in the college's gymnasium, at 19351 W. Washington St., a half-mile west of Route 45.

The heavily attended annual event is sponsored by IETC Partners and Career Resource Center, Executive Placement Consultants/EPC Staffing Services, Lake County Area Vocational System, Lake County Education to Career Partnerships, and Salem Services, Inc.

This year, some of the major employers are: Abbott Laboratories; Baxter Healthcare; police agencies in Lake and Cook counties; Condell Health Network; Midwest Bank; Hewitt Associates LLC; Kelly Services; Lake County government and Forest Preserves; Manpower; Marriott Lincolnshire; Matthews Employment; Medline Industries; Six Flags Great America; Trustmark Insurance; United Parcel Service; and United States Army Recruiting.

Lakeland Media, which produced a special advertising section for Job Market Place 2002, will have a booth at the fair.

In past years, with employers aggressively recruiting during record low unemployment, over 200 companies vied to get into the annual spring event at the college, and some were turned away.

Conversely, the fair

In recent years employers have sent representatives to the fair who are actually in the position to do the hiring. Conversely, a job applicant meeting a company representative is able to sell himself or herself in person, instead of simply relying on a resume sent through the mail.

Preceding the job fair by nine days are Pre-event Workshops for Job Seekers, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on May 21; and Pre-event Workshops for Employers, 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on

CLC speech addresses policy impact on education, shortcomings of schools

By DREW GRANGER
Staff Reporter

Public policy creates public education, Former Senator Paul Simon told a group of listeners at the College of Lake County, May 9, and leaders are needed to help shape that creation.

Simon related a tale of an unpublicized trip to schools on Chicago's west side. On this trip he saw first hand what leadership can mean. While one school's principal was escorting Simon through the halls he noted the students did not show much potential. Simon said he saw this notion reflected in the school.

At a second school on that trip, Simon said he encountered a principal who had "fired-up" the students and faculty. To ease the cycle of poverty and its effects on the students, the school was bringing in the parents to help them improve their education.

"My final message," Simon said while closing his speech, "is not to just do your assigned job. You have to do the extra things."

Simon's speech, part of the college's Lessons in Leadership program. Covered the impact of public policy on educational issues and what could be done to improve education.

Admitting he could be controversial, Simon made a point to stress areas he felt should be concentrated on to make the most of the average American students education.

Simon believes that the school year should be linger for elementary and secondary education students. He mentioned the longer lengths of

JOB FAIR

May 23. Both workshop programs will be held at the Grayslake campus.

The Job Seekers workshops will include interview techniques; resume review by professionals; internet job search; overcoming age barriers; and career success for ex-offenders.

The employer workshops will include interviewing techniques; wage and hour issues; searching for a new persona for human resource professionals; pros and cons of arbitration; and immigration basics.

Terri Berryman, director of Career and Placement Services at CLC; and Lois Long, with the Illinois Department of Employment Security, said the economic slowdown the country is experiencing is reflected in the job fair makeup.

"This year is like 1992-93, where we were not getting a lot of employers, but we will have a really diverse pool of companies," said Berryman. "There are some really legitimate opportunities for people attending the fair.

"Although the number of job listings for full time jobs and co-op programs (similar to internships) has slowed down significantly in the last year, we are seeing it picking up."

The key for job seekers, said Berryman, "is flexibility and patience. And you should use multiple resources when you're looking for finding jobs."

Berryman said one measure of the fair's success has been the employers who keep coming back. "Employers who have actually recruited at the fair always say how successful they were in getting really good employees."

made the family strong

"I think they are genuinely a very special family," said Ondo. "They've really opened their hearts and stretched themselves in that way. They're very willing to be a part of whatever it takes to make it work and are strong advocates for the children in their care."

When Jim Denikas, a welder since high school, was seriously burned on the job last year in Kenosha, the extended family of Jim and Sheila's parents, grandparents, neighbors, and support group friends kicked in big time.

Food was cooked and brought to the farmhouse; laundry was done; kids were ferried to their many school and sports activities, counseling and doctors' appointments; and even the staff at the Kenosha hospital where Jim stayed for nearly three weeks, re-defined visiting hours.

"The kids were terrified to be without their daddy," said Sheil. "Our kids were able to go to the hospital and the nurses said (some of them) could stay there in sleeping bags."

Jim had to endure the fears of returning to a job in which he had caught on fire, but a job nonetheless that comes with a substantial paycheck.

"After the accident I was gunshy about returning to work, but not anymore," said Jim.

The reality is that Jim will be working as a welder for many years to come, to meet the family's financial obligations.

"Jim talks about retirement," said Sheila, "But that won't be for a long, long time."

And, in the unlikely event of death, of one or both parents, their families will step in, because the young couple, by words and deeds, have dedicated their lives to giving the children "a sense of permancy," said Sheila.

"If anything happened to me or Jim," said Sheila, "we definitely have enough family and friends to go around, to take care of the children."

That said, it's interesting that the Denikas' have already looked to the future, especially the bright side, when "we'll have to hire a banquet hall for family functions," and the even brighter side, said Sheila, "when the kids are grown, and we'll take another look at bringing more kids into our home."

By then, said Sheila, producing a list on notebook paper, printed in pencil, the Denikas kids will be doing their own part to care for the young, the elderly and the needy.

According to the list, Jason plans on becoming a teacher; Amanda a pre-school teacher; Heavenly, whom the Denikas' thought wouldn't last the weekend when first brought, kicking and screaming into their home, a counselor; Kimmy, a teacher or counselor; George, a cook; Matt, the manager of a McDonald's Restaurant; and Johnny, a police officer.

Bobby, with approximately 14 years before entering the job market, is undecided; and Travis is looking.

And most important, whatever paths the children pursue, they'll never be going it alone.

SIMON

Western European and Japanese school years in comparison to the 180-plus days an American student averages per school year.

"when a Japanese student graduates from secondary school, he has been in school longer than an American student with a Bachelor's Degree," Simon said.

Simon said the reasoning originally behind the length of the average school year, so children could help with harvests, is outdated.

Simon acknowledged it would cost more to keep the students in school longer, with increased teacher salaries and an building improvements, but he says the benefits would be telling.

Simon stressed the implementation of foreign language instruction at every level of education.

He said the United States is the only developed nation that does not require foreign language instruction. Simon related a tale of a trip to the former Spanish Sahara where he visited a primitive, one room school building in which the students lacked such basics as pencils. Yet in that school room the students were learning a foreign language.

Simon admitted that such actions would be hard to implement, but several programs have met with resistance in the past, and have been enacted into law. As examples, Simon gave the G. I. Bill, the Marshal Plan, and a bill he helped with, requiring school districts to offer GED courses.

Safe Place offers training

A Safe Place/Lake County Crisis Center is offering a day-long domestic violence workshop for law enforcement professionals headlined by Anne O'Dell, a retired, 20-year veteran of the San Diego Police Department and head of that jurisdiction's domestic violence unit. The training will be held at the College of Lake County in Grayslake on Thursday, May 23.

"Anne outlines, in language that police officers appreciate, the basic-step-by-step procedures that are necessary in order to intervene and prevent domestic battery according to the Illinois Domestic Violence Act," explains Autumn Franger, director of Community Outreach, Education and Training. O'Dell appeared at a seminar on the effects of domestic violence on child witnesses, sponsored by the Lake County Council Against Domestic Violence.

Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson will keynote the luncheon session. The workshop will begin at 8:30 a.m. Lunch is provided. To register, or for more information, call Autumn Franger at 847-249-5147.

Ease gridlock–shake mothballs off bypass plan

Seldom mentioned anymore as a relief to mid-county highway congestion is continuation westward of four-lane Route 120 (Belvidere Road) which abruptly becomes two lanes at a point in Wildwood east of Route 45.

Officially, the westward extension is known as the Grayslake Bypass because plans designed a half century ago call for Route 120 to swing south of the existing highway and bypass both Grayslake and the Round Lake area. Grand plans for northern Illinois highway construction conceived after World War II called for a four-lane Route l20 connecting with Route 12 in McHenry County.

Reasons why four-lane Route 120 never advanced beyond Wildwood are somewhat of a mystery. When asked about the abrupt juncture, Martin Buehler, director of the Lake County Department of Transportation, responded with a candid, "I don't know. Remember, I was in high school then." He said the abrupt ending probably had something to do with funding. The portion of Route 120 running west from Waukegan became four lanes in the early 1960s.

Buehler acknowledged that a centerline for the Grayslake Bypass is in place and that both the bypass and extension of Route 53 are integral parts of the Lake County Transportation Improvement Project, Lake County's "bible" for highway improvements. The bypass came in for mention in a rather off-hand way when the Illinois Tollway Authority and Illinois Department of Transportation studied transportation needs two years ago.

The mystery of the Wildwood "funnel" heightens when considering how highway traffic in a growing Lake County would be flowing smoother today if the four lanes were built westward as originally planned. This newspaper has campaigned diligently over the years for expansion of east-west arterials. The bypass would have been a forerunner of that concept.

Thousands of frustrated motorists have bought into the concept that the 53 extension is the only way to ease gridlock in Lake County. As we have stated from time to time, the Route 53 extension is unrealistic for a number of reasons. As illusory as the controversial project is, politicians keep hammering way for 53, even getting elected on what has become a bogus concept.

In contrast, the bypass is not hypothetical. In a very real sense, it is half built. A large portion of the right-of-way already is owned by the state of Illinois. The bypass is a highway construction project awaiting completion.

A strong argument can be made for the Grayslake Bypass providing many of the answers to congestion that advocates claim for the Route 53 extension. Certainly, enough money and study time have been frittered away on Route 53 to build well beyond the present terminus point of four-lane Route 120.

Gurnee, Grayslake, Libertyville. Mundelein and the Round Lake area all have a vested interest in completing the high speed, limited access corridor provided by a four lane Route 120 though the center of the county. Work on Route 120 would serve as a catalyst to improve connecting arterials.

We think it's high time to put completion of the bypass on the front burner. Shake off the mothballs on the bypass and let's REALLY do something about easing gridlock in the mid-county area. Are elected officials and business leaders afraid to tackle the project?

VIEWPOINT

Simple oops would suffice, who will speak out?

BILL SCHROEDER

Visions of the County of Lake using the full force of government to confiscate a corn crop in resolution of a lease gaff recall heavy-handed tactics and threat of condemnation employed 20 years ago to acquire Forest Preserve open space.

That "Big Brother" strategy comes to mind as the county works out of an imbroglio resulting when Farmer Petersen planted 100 acres of corn on county land adjoining Winchester House and Transportation Division headquarters in Libertyville without benefit of a lease.

Politicians trying to figure out who goofed are pouring salt in long-standing wounds with the dwindling agricultural community.

Farmers have been suspicious ever since the county had the attitude, "We want your land for a Forest Preserve. Sell it or we'll take it." Scars left over from the condemnation era remain to this day, complicating efforts to add public open space holdings. Too bad, but that's another story. What's before county officials is working out their problem with Petersen, one of the handful of custom farmers who rent land from the county and other owners of agriculture land.

What is known is that Petersen planted the land, which he has been working for 40 years under county leases, without benefit of a formal lease this year. Someone goofed. County Board Rep. Pam Newton (R-Vernon Hills) reportedly said something like, "Go ahead and plant. We know you." When it was learned that Petersen planted, a chorus of responses spewed forth like a spring deluge. Board Chair Suzi Schmidt (R-Lake Villa) said Petersen was trespassing. Oh? Rep. Diana O'Kelly (R-Mundelein) said unauthorized planting is not covered by county licensing ordinances. Sounds likely. Rep. Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake) made a stand for open and competitive bidding. Well, yes. Rep. Steve Mountsier (R-Barrington) said the county should reimburse Petersen for the seed. Welfarism? Rep. Bonnie Thomson Carter (R-Ingleside) said "whoa" to the reimbursement suggestion. An idea was floated that the crop should be confiscated and sold to the highest bidder. Oh, oh. Sort of Soviet-like. Another suggestion surfaced to spread sludge over the land as part of a spoils disposal method in connection with the dredging of nearby Butler Lake. Aha. The dreaded coverup. That idea was dropped in a hurry because of dark connotations.

When last we checked, even as the first blades of corn poke through the rich black soil, the mess had been dropped into the lap of State's Atty. Michael Waller. Probably a first for Mike, who is more used to dealing with murder and lesser forms of serious lawbreaking. Well, Mike. It's your baby now.

Here's another suggestion. Simply admit someone goofed and draw up a lease for 2002. Won't even have to back date it. That might be illegal. Question? What in the world would the County of Lake do with 100 acres of corn? Just a thought: Anyone care to say "oops"?

Calling all snowmobilers

John Lindberg of Cary, president of the Riverbend Benders Snowmobile Club, writes asking followers of this column—and fellow snowmobile fans—to write letters in support of snowmobiling in Yellowstone and Grand Teton National Parks. Environmentalists are flooding the National Park System with calls to ban snowmobiling. The official comment period ends May 29, 2002, so the time to write is now. Lindberg says the outcome of National Park decisions will affect snowmobiling everywhere, including Illinois and Wisconsin trails. Because of space limitations, we're able to list only one website to submit comments: Illinois Association of Snowmobile Clubs—www.ilsnowmobile.com.

Congratulations

Martin "Marty" Buehler has been reappointed County Engineer/Director of Transportation in action taken by the Public Works and Transportation Committee of the Lake County Board. The reappointment requires consent of the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT). The reappointment becomes effective July 16, 2002. Buehler is a career county employee, joining the then Lake County Highway Department after graduation from the University of Illinois.

Where girls are

Despite the distractions of modern society, Reta Wilcox, CEO of the Illinois Crossroads Council of Girls Scouts headquartered in Vernon Hills, says the organization is stronger than ever. Locally and in the region, one of every five girls between the ages of 5 and 17 within Crossroads Council is a Girl Scout, compared to one in every nine girls elsewhere. The council serves more than 33,000 girls and 10,250 adult volunteers in 102 communities in northeastern Illinois. The council is high tech, offering a wholesome computer experience to girls with an approved website. Teenage girls go online anywhere from twice a week to several times a day, according to a Girl Scout study.

Fitzgerald seen as Link's opponent

The Republican "mystery candidate" ready to take on State Senator and Democratic County Chair Terry Link could turn out to be Shields Township Supervisor Charles B. Fitzgerald IV.

GOP leaders have been promising not to let Link run unopposed in the November general election.

Fitzgerald has solid party credentials and is well-liked in the township post that serves citizens in North Chicago, Lake Bluff and Lake Forest.

Link is a veteran legislator representing Vernon Hills, where he resides, and North Shore communities. No Republican filed for the primary. The candidacy will be firmed up in a slating process according to state statute that has a May 20 deadline.

Center approved

Grant Township's new $1.4 million administrative center was toured by members of the Lake County Township Officials Association Wednesday night. The center will serve the Fox Lake-Ingleside community. Supervisor Gordon Kiesgen said the building, located in a rural area, received rave reviews. Officials from Lake Villa Township and Ela (Lake Zurich) Township provided buffet food service for the visitors.

Back to October

Jan Zobus, legislative aide for State Sen. Bill Peterson (R-Long Grove), assures that this year's Sunday brunch date is "carved in stone." Always attracting a capacity crowd at Marriott Lincolnshire, the event is set for Sunday, Oct. 6. Last year an August event was scheduled and later postponed until November due to schedule conflicts. Peterson supporters like October because of delightful fall weather.

Getting noticed

Congressman Mark Kirk's recent Saturday morning breakfast at Hackney's on Lake in Glenview turned out to be a rare opportunity to showcase Cook County Republican candidates who don't always get to bask in the limelight. November candidates from Cook County getting attention with top-of-the-ballot Republicans included Maureen Murphy, Board of Review; Rev. Chris Bullock, County Board president; Ron Swick, sheriff; Kathy Thomas, county clerk; James Pleczonka, assessor, and Sandy Tristano, 12th District sub-circuit.

Job opening

Bob Churchill, Republican nominee for state representative, is in the market for a legislative aide. Bill Snodgrass of Waukegan, formerly on the Churchill staff, took over similar duties for State Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch) when Churchill left the General Assembly several years ago for an unsuccessful bid for state office. Snodgrass, retired superintendent of North Chicago High School, relishes his support work for Osmond. He says he had nine enjoyable years on the Churchill staff.

Team play

Chief Circuit Court Judge Jane Waller and Judge Steve Walter teamed up to share the proceeds of a fund-raiser Wednesday night at Country Squire in Grayslake. Both are running for retention.

New interest

Assistant State's Attorney Torre Newson is being credited with igniting new interest among Waukegan Republicans. Newson, township GOP chairman, has vowed to increase involvement of minorities in party affairs while electing a Republican state representative and county board member. A recent township meeting was considered "the best in years."

5-year-olds graduate from preschool

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

Our little Lakeland family had a reason to celebrate last week when one of us graduated from Antioch's village preschool, also known as Camp Crayon or B.K. Camper (Before Kindergarten).

No, no, it wasn't me. I think I graduated from preschool when I was 14. As comedian Jeff Foxworthy says, "You might be a redneck if your dad walks you to school because you're in the same grade."

But back to the subject. Our incredibly bright 5-year-old grandson, Zachary Besson, graduated from preschool along with 25 classmates. They are the college class of 2019.

The graduation hall was packed, standing room only behind the seats, as grandparents and parents, and other parents toting kids under 5, savored the program presented by their precious and precocious tots.

Cameras and VCRs were everywhere, capturing the event on film and tape. When my generation was young, a child might have his picture taken once in a while, maybe. Today's kids become the subjects of albums full of photos and mountains of movies. We used to teach them to say mommy and daddy, now their first words include "Cheese!"

The B.K. Campers will be moving to the BIG SCHOOL in the fall, kindergarten. Their graduation was both happy and emotional. Imagine the 26 tykes marching in to the majestic music of "Pomp and Circumstance," wearing little red mortarboards and carrying rolled-up diplomas.

For the audience, they acted out nursery rhymes such as, "Mary Had a Little Lamb," "Itsy Bitsy Spider," "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star" and "Humpty Dumpty."

They also performed a short play and sang songs as a chorus. Some in the audience couldn't help puddling up a bit as their lovable little ones went through their paces.

"Frasier" television star Kelsey Grammer tells college graduates the three keys to real-world success are talent, intention and tenacity. The kids at Camp Crayon learned some other keys to success: picking up their toys, making many friends and sharing. They enjoyed party days, went for walks, learned songs, built things with blocks and assembled puzzles. Adorning the walls were posters with pictures of each child along with their answers to questions such as "what I want to be when I grow up" and "favorite foods."

If we adults can just hold on for a while, long waits at doctors' offices may be over. There may be medical glut. Morgan Musich, Kendric Henderson, Eric Pedersen and Julia DeBoer all say they want to be doctors.

Kacy Jonites wants to be "a hospital doctor" and Jaclyn Ukleja an animal doctor.

Jacob Lanahan and Austin George want to be policemen, Nicole Mellen a teacher and Karlie Schnider a princess.

Our Zachary says he wants to be an astronaut, but last year we was going to be a doctor, so that ambition is subject to change. As a grandpa, I visualize him pitching for the Cubs, playing quarterback for the Packers or maybe replacing Tiger Woods as the world's best golfer.

Favorite foods of the little graduates ranged from "apples, bananas and pears" to "shrimp and scampi and asparagus" to "eggs and toast" to "banana splits" to "strawberries and ice cream."

Naturally, being our offspring, they have excellent taste.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Influencing Bush

In President George W. Bush's lexicon there are, apparently two different types of terrorists. The first is the Type A Terrorist, the second is the Type B terrorist. They are, indeed, very different.

The Bush Type A Terrorist fires upon, or otherwise threatens Americans, or in some rare cases, America's allies. Obviously, a blemish on a civilized world, the Bush method of eradication is to kill, "detain," or otherwise remove from circulation from the aforementioned civilized world. There is, nor shall there be, any discussion with their leader, Osama bin Laden, concerning alternative methods, political or otherwise, designed to halt America's effort to stamp out the contagion of Type A Terrorism.

The Bush Type B Terrorist attaches, to his/her person, certain powerful explosives, goes to a mall, market, cafe, or pizza parlor crowded with Israeli civilians, and detonates those powerful explosives, killing the innocents, young and old. He/she thereby has perpetrated a mere glitch on the screen of President Bush's view of the brave, new world of the future. The Bush method of eradicating the Type B Terrorist is to send forth a high ranking diplomat to discuss a political settlement with Osama bin Laden's counterpart in the Type B camp, Yasser Arafat.

It should be noted that the Bush prescription is subject to change from day to day depending on what his advisors say, or what the advisors of our "friends and allies" say. I never knew that the French, the Spanish, the Egyptians, the Moroccans, or the Saudis were part of the president's cabinet. They apparently have more influence than anyone else. It's called: "governing by committee."

Who's watching?

Former Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shineflug claims she had no knowledge of the actions of former Village Administrator Tim Wells, which resulted a huge deficit for the village treasury. Tim Wells has been indicted for those actions and faces severe penalties in a court of law. The former mayor is quick to point out that she has not been indicted or accused of any criminal activity. Consequently, she claims, the village of Antioch should pay her legal fees, which resulted from the investigation.

What a clever attempt to create the impression she has the support of the government and the people of Antioch. In getting our financial support, we must conclude she is innocent of any wrong doing and was only working in our best interest all along.

What is not being said here is that it was her job to know what her staff was doing. It was her job to oversee the people working for her and insure the safety of village funds. She is ultimately responsible for the fiasco created by the misappropriation of the Dolly Spiering bequest to the senior citizens enter, even though Tim Wells has nobly said he is solely responsible.

Crash course for students

Emergency medicine students drill skills

By DREW GRANGER
Staff Reporter

A mock disaster in the automotive collision repair shop at the College of Lake County technology center gave EMS students a chance to test themselves in a real-life situation.

With multiple injuries on multiple subjects, the students were forced to think quick and think smart to render aid.

Despite some errors in procedures, the students, a combination of EMS students and Fire Fighter training students performed well.

No, things don't always right on drills," EMS instructor Ruth Schiller said. "We've all been on drills that have gone wrong. That's why they are called drills."

An evaluation team made up of former students, most of whom are now working as EMTs rated the students. The overall review was positive despite some flaws, including a first in the program's decade-plus of existence.

"I've done this now for 10 to 12 years and I've never had any one 'die'," Schiller said. That streak came to an end when the students failed to notice an medical information bracelet on one of the victims which would have alerted them to the fact the subject was only suffering from a food allergy.

Local emergency personnel from Gurnee, Grayslake, Fox Lake and Round Lake were on hand to lend support and equipment to the students.

Greater Round Lake Fire Department Captain Tim Preidis said he could understand why the students were having such difficulty.

"When you have a whole bunch of people watching, it's a little different then what you do in the field," he said. He added the drill was similar to what he went through in his training.

"You 're actually watching and bringing back memories of what you did," Priedis said.

Preidis added the local departments support the program because it allows them to identify those individuals who may want to make a career as an EMT.

"You could see the up and coming people," he said.

The drill is part of a nine month instruction program held at the Lake County Technology Campus. The course meets for two hours, Monday through Friday.

The staged accident consisted of a mishap in an automotive repair facility. Six victims awaited the students, including the departed allergy victim. Each student had an assigned position and was expected to carry out the duties of their position.

The situation was very realistic for some including the area coordinator. As one professional who spoke to the coordinator said at the debriefing, the coordinator was "booted" from the immediate scene and had trouble communicating with the staff actually on scene, as has happened in actual situations.

Even the professionals however were more pleased than disappointed.

The students quickly became their own worse critics. Libertyville High School student Mark Mechlin called the experience hard but good for learning.

"We've never been in a situation this complex.," he said. "It definitely showed us what we need to work on." He added better communication was needed.

Antioch resident Brittany McMahon said if the class was to go through another drill they would be ready for it. She agreed wit h Mechlin that the exercise was difficult.

"It was hard, but fun at the same time," she said.

Schiller said the confusion would be helpful for the students.

"It's a good thing," she said. "These kids are going to be beating themselves up over it, but It is a learning experience."

Why changing the classroom environment may not be the best answer in changing behavior

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

Hi Dr. Singer,

My child is 8 years old and I understand that he is a terror in the classroom. My husband and I are wondering if he might just be bored and acting out because of that. Is it wise for us to ask the teacher to change things in the classroom for him. In other words, make it more challenging for him or make it more for his needs? G.Z.

Dear G.Z.,

While I believe that kids should be in the correct academic placement for their abilities, and I think a little bit of extra work if finished early would be o.k., I am strongly against the idea of changing settings or environments around kids. Custom making or making special circumstances around a child who is misbehaving, for that misbehavior, is telling that child that the world will change for his or her every need. This is a dangerous concept to teach our kids and will impede their ability to function normally as an adult when situations are usually never custom made for people. I will go so far as to say that I believe that too much of this is going on in our country already and is some of the reason behind the huge growth in overindulged bad behavior we are seeing from kids.

When kids misbehave, we do need to assess the situation, and make sure that we have the appropriate educational placement, limits, consequences and expectations set up. We need to do this without the child knowing that we are running circles around him. He needs to feel important, but not overly important or more important than other kids.

One good example of a contrived situation that makes me nuts is when a child who is acting out is required to sit right in front of the teacher's desk so the teacher can keep cueing him or her to get back on track. That situation is sending a strong message to the child that he or she needs to have another human being in front of them at all times for him or her to keep control of his or her behavior. I have worked with enough out of control kids and the parents of those kids to know that even the kids that seem to need that constant human intervention really do not need that if the right system of behavior change is employed constantly and correctly. It is very important that the child learns to behave because of his or her own need to, rather than due to the fact that another person is there to bring them back to subject. That person will not be there for the child's entire life to bring him or her back to task and therefore, it is a bad habit to set up. It is a simple case of dependence on self versus dependence on others.

If we want to do right by our kids, our entire job as parents and teachers is to train them and have them practice for the adult world they will have to live in everyday. The hard part about this is that we live in an adult world that does not usually change to the every need of every adult in it. We all have needs and we all get bored. As a matter of fact, most of us find much of the tedious grueling parts of our work boring and sometimes intolerable, but we still need to do them. Even if we love most of our work, there are still jobs to be done that are not fun and not entertaining. We still need to do them. We can do this, because somewhere along the way, we learned how to handle ourselves in school etc. in spite of our boredom. We learned to continue our work in spite of our needs. It was expected that we behaved anyway. It also helped that if we didn't do it, there was usually something worse waiting for us. I can remember being in 4th grade and getting caught fidgeting with opening a pack of gum and putting a piece in my mouth. We were not allowed to fidget and worse yet, we were not allowed to chew gum in school. How barbaric, huh!?!? Anyway, the punishment was having to put the gum on my nose and stand in the corner for a 1/2 hour, in front of the rest of the class. After the punishment, guess how many more times I repeated the behavior? You're right! Never again! Back then it was called good limit setting. Good punishment! Memorable punishment. Today it would be called a lawsuit for humiliating the child. When I think about that, it doesn't surprise me about how much misbehavior we have going on in our society by our kids. It makes me sad for them!

The difference I see now is that I rarely see good behavior required from kids regardless of the situation. What I see more often is immediate diagnosing and changing of the circumstances around the child. I see labeling of the child and keeps the oncologist away.

That may not be entirely true but it is true that tomatoes, along with many other foods, have been proven to have cancer fighting properties.

In fact, studies have shown that just five servings of fruits and vegetables daily can prevent as much as 20 percent of all cancers. The cancer fighting benefits of proper nutrition apply to those who have been diagnosed and treated for cancer as well.

But keeping proper nutritional habits can be very complicated, especially when challenged with the rigors of traditional cancer treatment. If you add in complications from an unhealthy liver, renal system, or diabetes, the proper roadmap for nutrition gets even a little more gray.

That is why consulting a nutritionist can be just what the doctor ordered. Your one-hour consultation is a phone call away. Charity fund-raising ball a success

The unofficial results are in, enough to qualify the 16th annual Sweetheart Ball fundraiser sponsored by Assistance in Healthcare Foundation as a rousing success. This year's guests to the annual ball could be deemed a very generous group.

The estimated total for his year's ball is a whopping $60,000 to help qualifying patients and families in need for the coming year. That figure put the charity event ahead of last year's results with more fund-raising yet to come during this calendar year.

The ball featured a dinner/dance and a silent auction that acts as the major fund-raiser of the year for the charitable organization. The event also featured a special "capsule table" of smaller items and a 50/50 raffle. Each year, Assistance in Healthcare receives community and business support for the ball in the form of donations of items for the silent auction, sponsorships for the event and/or cash donations.

The main sponsor for the event, scheduled this year at the Crown Plaza North Chicago in Mundelein, was Cancer Treatment Centers of America at Midwestern Regional Medical with a capacity crowd of 360 attendees.

Assistance in Healthcare, a not-for-profit 501 (c)(3) foundation, provides grants for the non medical expenses, assisting patients and their families who have become financially distressed as a result of their fight against cancer and other catastrophic illnesses.

Throughout last year, a monthly average of 30 patients or patient's families were helped by the funds raised. Other than the costs associated with the ball itself, all the funds raised by the volunteer organization go to patients or their families who have demonstrated need.

overblown sympathy for the child because of that diagnosis. I see adults running around the child trying to change everything around the child instead of helping the child learn the self-control required. Instead of training the child how to handle the boredom or how to keep on track anyway, we quickly whisk the child into a new circumstance or recommend medication. This does not always help the child completely. It just prolongs the problem.

All kids get bored sometimes. All kids misbehave when they get bored. This is how they make a boring situation more fun. It's a fact of life. We all did it! It didn't mean we were not in the right setting or not challenged enough. It did not always mean that we had ADHD. Some things are interesting and some things, by nature, are boring, however, we have to learn to handle them all. In the program I run, I watch kids everyday learn how to handle their behavior effectively even in the face of monotonous boredom. Not only is it absolutely possible to train kids to attend even when they're bored, I will go as far as saying that it is absolutely imperative for all kids to learn how to do this before age 10. I have seen some of the worst behaving kids come in and learn through correct limit setting and practice, how to do any work they are asked to do.

I don't mean to sound gruff, however, I get very worried for the kids today. I see them being very aware of all the diagnosis names and use them very readily when they don't want to do something or do not want to be held responsible for something. This is so dangerous to their futures I can't even express fully how much.

My thoughts are these: Make sure of their capabilities. Make sure their placement is correct. Make sure you know what you are doing to set the right limits (if unsure, you can call me after July 9th .) Make sure to follow through on your limits. Make sure that your child is held responsible for bad behavior always. Make sure your child does not know about any work you are doing to improve his or her behavior. They should not be able to identify themselves by the "problems" they have. This will become their reason for not being able to do things correctly. They should also not feel that lots of adults are dancing around them to make things easier for them. Bad move when it is done! It puts them in the middle of their own diagnosing and can be used by them later.

Give them the tools to be successful! Do not give them the means to find excuses for bad behavior. It's that simple.

Lancer baseball on brink of state finals

After a heartbreaking loss in the opener of the Junior College State baseball tournament, College of Lake County had little choice.

"It was do or die," coach Gene Hanson said of the second game, with Elgin.

After a 6-4, 4-run ninth inning loss to Illinois Valley, the Lancers were up to the challenge. They survived the first day with an 8-5 win over Elgin.

Dan Lecht got the win on the mound for the Lancers, who led early and never looked back. A home run by Warren grad Russ Schaibly got the Lancers off on the right foot in the second inning.

Alex Frank singled and scored a run; Dave Paddock had 2 singes; Chris Draska had a 2-run single; Jason Schuler had an RBI walk, walked again and scored and George Fuchs had a single and scored a run. CLC made 8 hits be enough for the win.

"Right now, I would say our hitting is carrying us. We made some costly mistakes on defense today," Hanson said.

The loss to IV, when no hit went deep into the outfield in the final at-bat, meant CLC had to come from the losers bracket and win three games to make the NJCAA Illinois state finals.

Still, Hanson said a 38-13 record going in to the Tuesday battle against the Elgin-IV loser is still something to be proud.

Strong contingent heads to girls' track state finals

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

With the event itself only in its second year, girls pole vaulters are indeed trailblazers for future generations.

One may look back in 10-12 years and think of the nine Lake County girls state meet qualifiers and think of their efforts as standard-setting. Led by Libertyville junior Lizzy Proctor, with a winning effort of 11 feet, the group stands a good chance to fare well in the state meet at Eastern Illinois University this weekend.

"Lizzy was just her usual self in the pole vault. There are a lot of girls who can go 10-feet, 5-inches to 11 feet in the state," said LHS coach Harry Carlson.

Sophomore Leslie Korotka placed third at 9-3.

The qualifiers included one from Grant and Antioch. Grant qualified Alexis Wittlieb, a junior, in 9-0 while Antioch's Amanda Wagner and Lindsey Andrews, a sophomore and a freshman, qualified for Antioch with 9-0 and 8-9 efforts. Emily Plott, a Grayslake sophomore, rounds out the qualifiers at 8-9, the minimum standard.

"Vaulting in the area is tough," summarized Grant Coach Jim Cramer.

"I really wanted to qualify. The competition really helps a lot. I did a 7-6 last year and increased it by two feet. I worked on everything in my technique. The main thing was to try and work on my turning," said Wauconda's Kortoka.

She chose the event in a matter-of-fact fashion, after joking around with the coach. She works out with the boy's pole-vaulters.

Lake Forest ran away with the team sectional title, but Libertyville took home hardware, too, with its NSC Lakes Division crown. The meet featured East Suburban Catholic Conference champ Carmel, NSC meet champ Lake Forest and Fox Valley Conference runner-up McHenry.

Carlson was pleased with his team's fourth-place effort (56 points) and individual qualifiers. Proctor returned to competition in the high jump and qualified with a 5-feet effort.

Sophomore Mia Supanich-Winter of LHS won the 3,200-meter run in 12:05 in edging Jamie Knight of Lake Forest. "She ran a great race for the two-mile," Carlson said.

"Kelly Hansen really wanted to qualify in the 400 and 800, but she did well with her best times," Carlson said.

Stefanie Bechler, a junior, finished second in the 1,600 meters for the Wildcats.

Grant's Cassie Howard led area athletes in the field events. The junior was one of five qualifiers in the shot put with a second-place effort of 38-feet, 4.5 inches. She was also second in the discus with a 120-01.0.

"Cassie has the school record in the shot and the discus, too. She worked real hard in the weight room in the off-season to be a big time thrower. She wants to throw in college, and I think that she can do that," Cramer said.

"I was nervous, but coach is a great motivator. You just have to get into that mindset," Howard said.

Vernon Hills and Carmel did well in qualifying individuals and relay teams. They both qualified, running second and third, behind North Chicago's pace, in the 4x100 relay.

"Our relays did well, with the 4x200 with Kelly Coleman, Katie Quill, Sara Kwasigroch and Keri Coleman," said Carmel coach Jim Halford. CHS was third in that race, behind fellow state qualifiers North Chicago and Vernon Hills.

Junior Sherlenia Green had a good meet for the VHHS Cougars, with a qualifying second-place effort in the 100-meter dash, in 12.3.

"She looks to win," Sallade said of Green.

Sallade likes the fact that his relay runners will all be back next year. The 4x100 is Myriah Landesman, Jacqui Leffler, Emilie Clark and Green.

Warren's highlight came at the end of the meet when freshman Nadine Panton qualified in the 200 meter dash in 25.8, making her first trip to Charleston. Rival Lamisha Hines of Zion-Benton won the event by a tenth of a second.

Holly Clarke, a senior, had a strong meet for Antioch. She was fourth in the 300-meter low hurdles, and qualified in the triple jump, finishing second to Carmel's Keri Coleman. She just missed in the long jump at 16-6, finishing in third.

"She really peaked at the right time. She just wants to win and has a great work ethic," said ACHS coach Brent Pitt.

Clarke said the end of the event is when she feels strongest.

Julie Bariamis, a sophomore, was third in the discus. Sara Brzezinski had a strong third in the 800-meters in her final race for Antioch in her senior year.

Highlights for the Rams in addition to Plott, included senior Crystal Matsey ending fourth in the 100-meters (13.1). Kirstine Pearson was fifth in the 1,600 meters.

Round Lake's Amber Hussain, a junior, gave her team its lone highlight in the 3,200 with a fourth-place 12:14.

"She is talking about some off-season workouts. The cross country courses go from 2 to 3 miles and she always does well in longer races," said coach Bill Newby.

Final team scores: Lake Forest, 95.92; North Chicago, 68.17; Johnsburg, 62; Libertyville, 56; Vernon Hills 47.17; Zion-Benton, 46.17; Antioch, 45.42; Carmel, 35; McHenry, 34; Grant, 31.25; Warren, 26.5; Grayslake 17.25; Wauconda, 10.67; Mundelein 9.5 and Round Lake, 4.

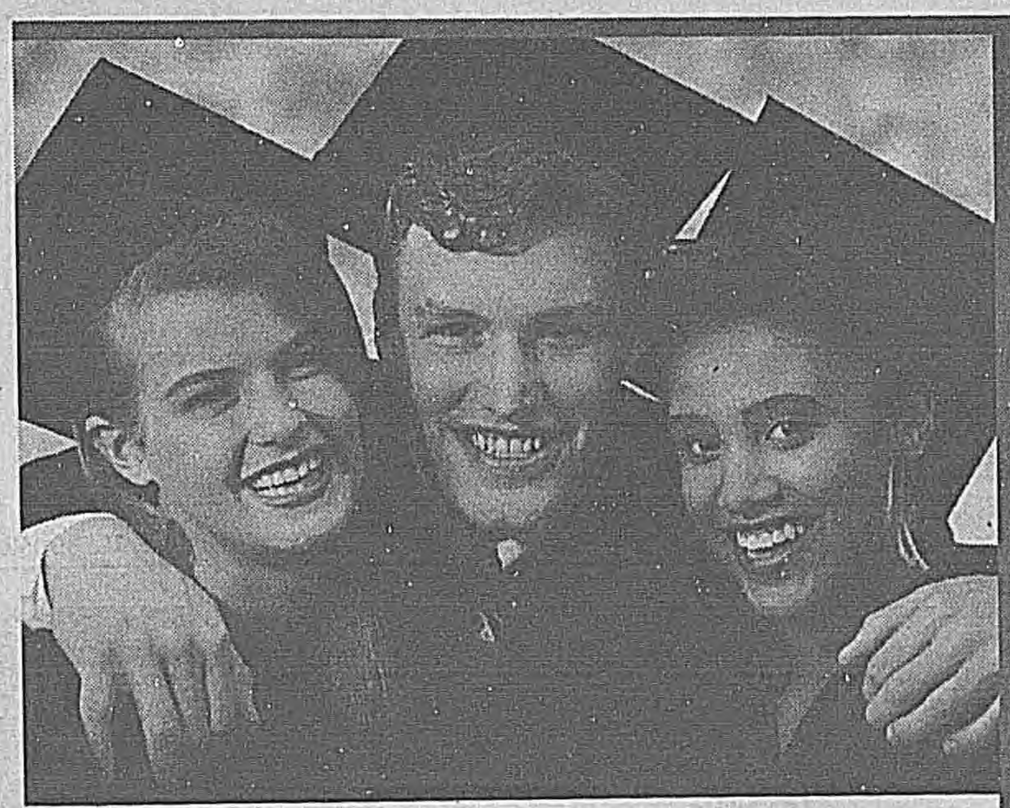
Getting them to this day can cost a bundle.



We can save you a chunk of that. Interested?

Sending your son or daughter away to college for four years can cost more than $80,000, and tuition costs are still rising.

CLC can help you save on tuition, even if your son or daughter attends another college.

The savings work like this:
Many students at other colleges save on tuition by earning credits during CLC's summer sessions. CLC credits transfer easily to other institutions, and, with a little planning, the credits earned at CLC can add up to a full semester's credit. At a private college, that can amount to savings of more than $11,000, if you consider tuition, fees, room and board.

Classes start June 10.

Courses offered days, evenings, weekends at convenient locations on the Grayslake Campus, Lakeshore Campus (Waukegan), Southlake Educational Center (Vernon Hills) and Adlai Stevenson High School. Many online courses also offered.

Seven Corsairs to play on college gridiron

By MIKE KRIZMAN
Correspondent

The Carmel High School football team completed its best season in school history last fall, going 11-2 and advancing to the semi-finals of the Class 6A State Tournament.

Because of their success, seven seniors will play football beyond high school, all on the Division III level.

Quarterback Matt Roe, running back Patrick Adrien and offensive linemen Mike Zeifert and Matt Lyons will continue their careers in Rock Island as members of the Augustana College football team. Running back Eric Luna will play for Elmhurst College in the fall, while linebacker Josh Bruenning heads south to Decatur as a member of Millikin University's football team. Linebacker Bobby Magna will also play beyond high school, choosing to attend Dakota State University in Madison, SD.

"This is the most we've had since 1996 when we had 10 guys sign," said Carmel Head Football Coach and Athletic Director Andy Bitto.

"We've got a bunch of guys who love to play football because at the Division III level they don't get any scholarship money. It's good for the program because we get exposure having kids play at the higher levels."

Roe set four career records at Carmel during a three-year stint on varsity en route to being named the Corsairs' Most Valuable Player. He set records for the most points scored (250), most passing yards (1,913), most all-purpose yards (4,308) and a tie for the most touchdowns with 37.

Luna set the school record for most rushing yards in a career with 3,159. He also set season records during the 2001 campaign with 1,791 yards rushing, 22 touchdowns and 140 points.

Tight end Sean Walker will head the 2002-03 class by the time next fall rolls around. Walker is already generating interest from several top Division I-A schools, including Illinois, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Penn State, Stanford and Wisconsin, just to name a few.

Storm watching: thermometers provide the numbers you need

As the sun rises higher in the sky and the earth begins to warm, it's not only animals that come out of hibernation.

When warm spring weather finally arrives, it's all about being outdoors. People can't wait to spend time gardening, doing yard work and enjoying activities such as hiking, biking, camping or just soaking up some rays. To make the most of spring and summer, people need more information: the temperature, humidity, barometric pressure, and whether any storms are lurking over the horizon.

Fortunately, there are thermometers that fit the bill for the weekend gardener, the grilling enthusiast, the weather aficionado or anyone in between. And with various celebrations just around the corner, from Mother's and Father's Days to graduations and summer weddings, thermometers make a great gift that's also practical and attractive.

Accurate weather information

If it's weather information you're after, look for digital thermometers and weather stations are the latest trend. These handy devices incorporate wireless monitoring technology and provide the convenience of having a monitor on a table inside the house with a weatherproof sensor outdoors, in the attic or wherever you would like it to be. Acu-Rite's models feature easy-to-read LCD screens that display both the internal room temperature as well as the temperature for up to three remote sensors with a range of up to 100 feet. They also function as clocks with snooze alarms and day/date displays.

The more advanced models will give you barometric pressure and humidity readings and alert you to weather changes and impending storms. If you want to monitor the temperature of your lily pond or swimming pool, the weatherproof sensors also come with a submersible waterproof probe.

If you are really into precision, Acu-Rite's newest model, available this spring at Wal-Mart, will give you not only accurate weather readings, but also will synchronize to the official U.S. atomic clock in Boulder, Colo.

Whether you need to know when to flip the burgers or when to flip yourself to get an even tan, a combination thermometer/clock on the deck is handy during warm weather. Many combination models or sets are available, in designs ranging from a bright mosaic, to garden herbs, to sea shells. Look for sets made from durable sculpted resin to withstand outdoor use and still provide accurate time and temperature information.

ATTENTION PET OWNERS
We Do Not Knowingly Accept Ads For Free/Giveaway Animals
If you must give up your beloved pet, please consider these suggestions.
•Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.
•Some people who respond to these free animal ads are imposters and are only concerned about making a profit and not the animal's welfare.
•Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: When is it time to give up on contacting a company you have interviewed with? I have interviewed with several companies over the past 4 weeks. I am interested in working for two of the companies. Both of these companies offer the type of work environment that attracts me and the positions being offered is the type of work I have experience in. I feel as though I am a good candidate for both. I sent out thank you notes to both parties yet I have heard nothing from either. I placed several calls to them hoping to keep my name in the running. There have been a few times when I don't leave a message because I don't want to appear to be a pest. Should I continue to try to get in touch with them or does it sound like a waste of time? A. B. (via E-mail)

A: Keep in mind that in this economy, there may be dozens of persons these companies are interviewing for this position. Some corporations will feel they have found their candidate and make an offer. Others may choose to check out all possible candidates before making a decision. There are pros and cons to both. Of course if a company chooses a candidate, it could take some time to negotiate an offer, pre-employment screening and then the hope that the candidate they have chosen will actually accept the offer. If not, then the company usually goes back to the interview mode. Then there is the other side in which is the corporation wishes to explore all candidates before making any decisions. Depending on the amount of candidates applying for a position this process can take a lot longer than the candidates want to wait. The company risks losing candidates who interviewed in the beginning. I have seen many companies come forward after a two month interviewing process to select one of the original candidates, only to find that person has moved on to another position elsewhere, thus forcing the company to either choose a runner-up candidate or start the whole interviewing process over again. If your question is, are you wasting your time on companies that are not getting back to you . . . I will offer you this advice . . . it is wise to send a follow-up letter or card as you did on both counts. It is also wise to try to contact the company within the first two weeks after the interview if you have not heard from them. This keeps you in the forefront. I would limit my repeat calls to once every two weeks. To make repeated telephone calls only gets annoying and you don't want to be perceived as annoying in the interviewers mind. To hang up without leaving a message is just as bad due to the technology of Caller I.D. They will know you called and how many times. And a word of caution. Don't believe everything you hear about blocking your telephone calls. The facts would floor you if you are used to blocking calls. Do not put all your eggs in one basket. Continue to look. Your sense of urgency to be employed may not be the same sense of urgency a company has to hire. Who knows, a position just as desirable may be right around the corner. Should the opportunity arise that you gain employment elsewhere and then low and behold one of these two companies makes you an offer, then you will have an opportunity to weigh out your options. Don't wait around on the outcome. Good luck.

Art in the Woods auction set

By JEFF ZACHARY
Staff Reporter

With all the hard work being done by Round Lake Schools Community Unit District 116 school board member Ann Welk, the "Art in the Woods" fund-raising auction could really be one heck of a show.

"Personal invitations have been mailed to more than 50 art galleries in Lake County to attend the Art in the Woods Auction," said Welk. All Lake County schools participating in the auction will benefit," she added.

The Auction date is June 9th, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Hart Woods in the Round Lake Area Park District located on Route 134 and Hart Road in Round Lake.

Donations of artwork from students, staff and friends is being requested to display at this "silent" auction.

"Several pieces have already been collected, but more are needed to make this auction a success," said Welk.

There are nearly 400 art students at the Round Lake High school and 20 of them have just had their artwork featured at the Great Frame Up store located in Vernon Hills.

Four of the students, Dominick Cirell, Kristan Ruiz, Krystal Chayer and Deanne Anderson will now have their artwork displayed at the Thompson Center in Chicago.

For more information on the "Art in the Woods" silent auction, call Ann Welk at 847-721-9247.
